LBJ Seen Accepting Changes

Enforceable CR Law His Guide

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will accept some changes in the civil rights bill as long as the Senate produces enforceable legislation, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today.

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader who is floor manager for the measure, said Johnson prefers the House-passed bill as it stands. But, he added, the President is not against amendments that do not weaken it.

Humphrey told this to a reporter as the Senate headed into its 44th day of debate. The civil rights leaders apparently are determined to move to shut off debate next week on a pending compromise jury trial amendment unless Southern opponents agree to a fixed time for voting on it.

Have Votes for Cloture

Humphrey, apparently more optimistic than some other supporters of the bill, doubts it will be necessary to file a cloture petition to break down Southern resistance.

"If we have to file, we'll file it on Monday," the Minnesotan said. "We have the votes for cloture. I doubt if we'll have to file."

Cloture is the Senate's procedure for choking off a filibuster. To invoke it requires two-thirds of the senators on hand, or 67 if all 100 are present.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chief strategist for Southern opponents of the bill, reported after a caucus Wednesday that they declined to agree on a time for voting on the jury trial amendment.

Vote Not Ruled Out

Sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois as a substitute for a proposal by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., it would provide jury trials in all criminal contempt citations that involved sentences of more than 30 days and fines above $300.

Russell told reporters and then informed Dirksen that the Southerners did not rule out a vote next week, but said "we are not going to make any commitments now." Dirksen had insisted on some word from the Dixie forces Wednesday.

Immediately afterward, Dirksen and Mansfield conferred and Dirksen announced, "It would appear that our only out is a cloture petition."

GUARD HISTORY FOR LIBRARIES—Copies of the new book, The Minute Man In Peace and War, a history of the National Guard were presented this week by the local guard unit, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery to Kingston City Library and Kingston High School Library. The recently published book encompassing the 324-year history of the guard, was written by Jim Dan Hill and published by Stockpole Company, Harrisburg, Pa. At the presentation ceremonies at Kingston Library are (l-r) Major Frank Fabbie, 156th commander; Dan H. Allen, principal of Kingston High School and president of Kingston Library Association, and Lt. Raphael Lucente of the local guard. The book relates the vital role of the local guard unit, one of the oldest in the state.

See Dip in School Rate at Saugerties

A $2,401,635.50 budget for Saugerties Central School District indicating an increase of $240,868.91, but a lower estimated basic tax rate will be presented to district taxpayers at the budget hearing Tuesday 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

The estimated basic tax rate shown on the preliminary budget is $82.884 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This is a decrease of $1.627 under last year's basic $84.511.

School officials stress that this figure is so close that any slight change in the estimated income when the actual state figure is known, or changed above and below the amount estimated for the total assessed valuation of the district, could materially change the decrease to an increase.

The important factor is that the figure is close to last year's and could be described as "holding the line."

The estimated total assessed valuation of the school district which includes a portion of Woodstock and Town of Ulster, is $10,020,608. Last year's actual total was $9,870,608.

Estimated income in this year's budget is $1,571,080.04. The exact amount will not be known until state aid figures are made available to the district.

To Raise $830,555.46

The estimated amount to be raised by taxation is $830,555.46

Other tax rates in the district last year were as follows:

Glasco $88.567, higher than the basic rate due to bonded indebtedness on their school incurred prior to centralization, and Woodstock taxpayers within Saugerties District $104.339 and Ulster taxpayers within the district $90.185, both differ from the basic rate due to different equalization rates.

Budget increases reflect added enrollments and personnel. Another cost factor is the first payment of principal and interest on the construction authorized by the District last June.

School officials will be present and the budget will be explained in detail at the meeting.

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, emphasized that the Board of Education hopes that all eligible voters of the district will attend in order that they may fully understand the expenditures anticipated for 1964-65.

Efficiency Noted

The Board of Education, administrative staff, and teachers have spent many months in preparing and studying requisitions. Careful consideration has been given to pupil needs, efficient methods of purchasing, and cost control.

It is anticipated that a group of parents of children presently attending parochial high schools in Catskill and Kingston, will offer a resolution to amend the transportation amount budgeted by the Board, in order to provide transportation for pupils attending private and parochial schools beyond the 10-mile limit.

Present Board of Education policy follows state statute which allows transportation up to 10 miles. The law, however, makes it possible to extend the distance but only if such change of policy is approved by the voters of a school district.

Those attending the meeting must act upon two matters. The first would be to extend the transportation limit to a certain definite distance, and the second would be to approve the additional sum of money to meet the cost of this transportation.

Election of members of the Board of Education will be held Wednesday from noon to 9 p. m. at Main Street School.

The candidates are Henry Breitenbach of High Woods, incumbent running unopposed; Carolyn C. France of Barclay

Trailways Signs Job Contract

'Package Deal' Is for 2 Years

A two-year contract agreement between Adirondack Transit Lines Inc., and employes, who are members of Lodge 682, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was announced today by spokesmen for both.

Terms of the contract involve a "package deal" providing for wage increases of seven to eight per cent, company paid hospitalization, pension increases and new disability benefits, plus "some minor adjustments" in working conditions, John J. Van Gonsic, executive vice-president of the corporation announced.

170 Receive Gains

Some 170 employes, including bus drivers, maintenance men, terminal dispatchers and hostesses benefit by the new contract. Drivers, under the previous contract average $155 a week, and other employes received $90 to $95.

An agreement was reached at about 8 p. m. Wednesday. It followed refusal of some 50 per cent of the union members to appear for work Wednesday morning. They were ordered back on their jobs by A. H. Rapp, of Glens Falls, chairman of the union's negotiating committee. Bus line service was affected from 7 a. m. until about 1 p. m.

Sure of Approval

Rapp said the new contract is due for ratification of the union membership, and he feels certain it will be approved.

The union had decided, it was reported Tuesday, to call a strike at 4 a. m. Friday, if an agreement had not been reached by that time. No explanation was given as to why some employes remained off their jobs Wednesday.

Terminals at Kingston, Albany, New York and elsewhere were affected. Only one bus run here was reported involved, that at 10 o'clock to New York. Maintenance men and others here remained on their jobs.

Adirondack Transit operates bus runs between New York City and upstate points including Kingston, Malone and Massena in the north, and Oneonta to the west.

Castle Is Target of 7 Shells

Makarios Favors Peace Proposal

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Mortar shelling by Greek Cypriots ringing St. Hilarion Castle today broke the cease-fire proclaimed by their government only 13 hours before.

The United Nations announced seven mortar shells were fired in 15 minutes at the Turkish Cypriot stronghold in the Kyrenia Mountains, resuming an offensive the Greek Cypriots have waged with the professed aim of clearing Turkish Cypriot gunposts from the Nicosia-Kyrenia highway and vantage points overlooking Greek villages.

No Report of Damage

There was no immediate report of damage to the castle.

A spokesman for the Greek Cypriot government expressed surprise at the U.N. annnouncement. He said that, so far as he knew, the cease-fire still was supposed to be in effect.

The United Nations thrust a new element into the confused situation. After telling of the shelling, the United Nations said it is going to set up permanent observation posts in the Kyrenia range, where it has been using patrols to try to stop the fighting.

"Now that President Makarios has ordered his government forces to cease fire in the area, it has been decided to convert these patrols into permanent U.N. posts in the area," it was announced. "It is hoped this cease - fire will be fully observed."

Nine-Point Plan

Two U.N. patrols came under fire in a continuation of the hostilities that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant is seeking to end through a new nine-point peace plan, presented Wednesday to the Security Council in New York. There were no casualties in either case.

Canadians of the peace force drew fire on a visit to the Turkish village of Aghirda, in the Kyrenia fooothills 10 miles north of Nicosia. Presumably the shots came from Greek Cypriot positions in the range overloooking the village. The Canadians did not return the fire.

A Swedish contingent disarmed a group of Cypriot battlers Wednesday night for the first time since the peace force went into operation March 27. The Swedes seized weapons from Greeek Cypriots who apparently had fired on them in the mixed Greeek-Turkish village of Timi, near the western port of Paphos.

Swedes Attacked

A U.N. spokesman said the Swedes were attacked when they intervened to halt a gun fight between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. He said the Swedes fired 45 rounds before halting the fight.

Both the U.N. command and the Turkish Cypriots had looked with skepticism on the cease-fire, which was announced after both Thant and the U.N. command of Indian Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani put strong pressure on the Greek Cypriots to drop the Kyrenia campaign.

In Nicosia, the first reaction of the Makarios regime to Thant's call for peace was favorable. A government spokes-

AF Reports None Of Flying Items Danger to U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has investigated more than 8,000 reported unidentified flying objects in 16 years "and has yet to discover any evidence that UFO's represent a threat" to U.S. security.

It also said today that probes of such sightings back to 1947 have failed to turn up any evidence that UFOs are "alien interplanetary space vehicles under some form of intelligent control."

This report was furnished to The Associated Press as the Air Force looked into a new epidemic of strange sightings in the skies over New Mexico.

One of the Air Force's leading civilian consultants on UFO's has gone to Socorro, N.M., to investigate the latest reports. He is Dr. J. Allen Hynek, director of the Dearborn Observatory at Northwestern University.

The latest report on "Project Bluebook," the congressionally ordered Air Force study of unidentified flying objects, extends through 1963.

It shows that over that 16-year span, 7.7 per cent of the 8,128 reported cases remain unidentified.

Teachers Seeking Secret Election On Bargain Group

Petitions are being circulated among the teachers in the Kingston School District (Consolidated) seeking Board of Education approval of a request for a secret ballot election to decide which organization, if any, will represent the teaching staff in future collective bargaining.

Thomas Mannix, president of the Kingston Teachers Federation, met with members of that organization Wednesday afternoon in the George Washington School to discuss the proposal. After the session members began circulating petitions.

The purpose of the requested election, is to determine whether the KTF or the Kingston Teachers Association will represent the teachers in the Kingston school system in collective bargaining.

Mannix explained that the petitions are circulated in the morning before classes, and in the afternoon following classes, evenings and weekends. He stated that it probably will be a month before the petitions are submitted to the Board of Education.

July 1 Ban Date For Tobacco Sale To All Under 18

Local police today reported receiving notice that a state law prohibiting sale of cigarettes or other tobacco products to persons under the age of 18 years old, becomes effective July 1.

The law was signed by Gov. Rockefeller April 22. It provides that stores and other establishments where tobacco in any form is sold, must display signs noting that "sale of cigarettes, cigars, or other tobacco products to persons under 18 years of age is prohibited by law."

Such signs must be on a white card with letters at least a half inch high. The law affects both counter and vending machine sales.

Violations could bring fines up to $50.

Teeners Held For Burglary, One at Scene

Two Town of Saugerties teenagers were taken into custody late Wednesday night, accused of burglarizing the home of Angelo Fondino, bowling lanes proprietor, on Seyler's Terrace and stealing $64, according to Kingston State Police.

Herbert Paul Whittaker, 16, of 34 East Bridge Street, Saugerties, was charged with burglary third degree. He later waived preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston, and was released in custody of Attorney G. Thomas Rhea.

Catches Youth

The case was referred to the grand jury. A 15-year-old juvenile, whose name was withheld because of his age, will be petitioned into Family Court on similar charges, according to State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes of the Kingston substation.

After 10 p. m. yesterday, authorities said, Fondino received a call at his place of business from a neighbor, who said someone was in the Fondino home. Fondino hurried home and on arrival found a boy jumping from a window. Fondino gave chase and collared the juvenile, who was later charged.

Learn About Other ...

Trooper John Kohland and Town Constable John Pavlak investigated with BCI Investigator Joseph Franke and after questioning the boy, learned that Whittaker allegedly was involved in the burglary. The youth was taken into custody.

Sergeant Rhodes said his investigation disclosed the youth and boy were allegedly involved in a burglary last Friday night at the home of Charles Nelson, Indian Spring Road, Whittier development, where a piggy bank containing about $15 was taken.

Cuba Trade Change Is Asked of Britain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials are understood to have urged anew in private talks here this week that Britain revise its policy of trade with Cuba and support the U.S. effort to deny vitally needed industrial and transportation equipment to the Castro government.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has held a series of discussions on world problems with British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler. President Johnson had a conference with Butler Wednesday.

Confirmed by Officials

Officials have confirmed that Cuban issues were raised in the Rusk-Butler talks. The White House only said that the foreign secretary and the President discussed matters of mutual interest.

Butler has been in Washington for a conference of the Central Treaty Organization which ended Wednesday. He is going on to Japan and the Philippines for talks seeking some way to avoid a serious crisis betweeen Indonesia and British-backed Malaysia over territorial claims pressed by Indonesia.

Butler is understood to be pleased by the support Britain has received from the United States in its efforts to preserve the territorial integrity of Malaysia.

Leaders Displaced

Top U.S. officials by contrast are known to be displeased by Britain's Cuban trade policy which they regard as a breaking of the barrier of economic isolation from non-Communist trade which the United States has been working to build around Cuba.

Butler is believed to have been told, as U.S. officials have recently said publicly, that the denial of important industrial and transportation supplies to Castro is the only effective weapon presently available to the United States for countering Castro's attempts to spread communism in the Western Hemisphere through propaganda and subversion.

The British counterargument to the U.S. boycott policy is that the boycott is not really effective, that the United States trades with various Commmunist countries including the Soviet Union, and that Britain traditionally trades with all countries regardless of political considerations.

Britain made a deal with the Castro government last January to sell Cuba 450 buses and spare parts at a total cost in excess of $12 million. France followed with a deal to sell trucks to Castro. The United States protested against both sales.

Says Quake Left 7-Minute Hole In Radar Warning

TOKYO (AP)— Gen. John K. Gerhart, commander in chief of the North American Defense Command, said today a power failure during the Alaska earthquake last month knocked a seven-minute hole in America's radar warning system against surprise attack.

Gerhart's disclosure to newsmen contradicted a Defense Department announcement shortly after the quake that the warning system across North America had continued to function normally.

Gerhart said generators at the warning installation at Clear, Alaska, broke down but power was swiftly restored.

"We cranked up and made the necessary repairs," he said.

The general, who is completing a tour of U.S. bases in Asia and the Pacific, said there were no plans to construct "back-up" installations in the warning net.

To duplicate the massive, expensive installations at Clear would serve no useful purpose, he said.

Gerhart said the Soviets appear to have some antimissile missiles but there is no indication a massive program is under way to produce them. He said he hoped there would be a decision on manufacture of U.S. antimissile missiles by the first of next year and that this gap would be filled by 1970 or 1971.

State Ponders Exceptions For Yule Street Banners

Several strong protests against the ban on Christmas decorations across main streets of towns and villages in the state is generating serious second thoughts in the minds of State Public Works Department officials.

According to an Albany report by the Associated Press, the penalties for violations range from $100 to $1,000 per day.

Last month, The Freeman reported that if the State Public Works Department can enforce a state highway law which bans lights, signs and banners strung across a state thoroughfare, Christmas decorations will be missing from across the main streets in villages and towns throughout the county and state.

"The law gives the superintendent some discretion in the matter. He's now going to have to dicide whether to make some exceptions."

According to the Public Works Department, the practice is a safety hazard and is prohibited by a state law that seldom has been enforced in such instances.

The law empowers the public works superintendent to restrict the hanging of lights, banners or any other object across highways maintained by the state. It does not apply to decorations hung on light poles—as long as they are not strung across the roadway.

Since most cities maintain the state's thoroughfares themselves, the ban applies almost entirely to villages and towns, where the state handles maintenance of highways passing through.

The department began during

Scranton Sees Bundle of Trouble Next November for Pennsylvania Democrats

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, taking note of Tuesday's primary election in his state, predicts trouble for Democrats in Pennsylvania next November.

He said "it is quite clear" the Democratic party "is broke to pieces" in Pennsylvania. He added that President Johnson will have "a hard time in his own party" in Pennsylvania next November because of an "internecine fight of major proportions."

The governor, at a news conference Wednesday, also repeated that he is not a candidate for nomination, despite the write-in vote of more than 220,000 votes —a state record — he received.

He based his prediction of Democratic troubles in November on the close race between State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno and Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate. Miss Blatt is holding a slim lead. The outcome will have to await the counting of some 10,000 absentee ballots early in May.

Scranton expressed surprise at his write-in total, which topped a previous state high of 183,073 votes recorded by the late President John F. Kennedy in 1960.

The governor said he guessed his total might reach 40,000; his wife, Mary, guessed 67,000.

The governor will go to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco in July with 62 of the state's 64 delegates pledged to him as a favorite son.

Second only to Scranton's total was the write-in vote for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge who polled almost 80,000 votes. His showing was more than double that of Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican. The only two delegates elected by Republicans in the state not pledged to Scranton as a favorite son are Goldwater men.

But it was the battle by Miss Blatt against the Democratic organization which attracted the most interest in the state.

Incumbent Sen. Hugh R. Scott, Republican, had no trouble winning renomination, soundly defeating W. Henry MacFarland, a fellow Philadelphian, by a margin of almost 8-1.

With all but 19 of the state's 9,261 precincts reported unofficially, Miss Blatt led Musmanno—454,020 to 450,566.

Teeners Held For Burglary, One at Scene

Two Town of Saugerties teenagers were taken into custody late Wednesday night, accused of burglarizing the home of Angelo Fondino, bowling lanes proprietor, on Seyler's Terrace and stealing $64, according to Kingston State Police.

Herbert Paul Whittaker, 16, of 34 East Bridge Street, Saugerties, was charged with burglary third degree. He later waived preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, Town of Kingston, and was released in custody of Attorney G. Thomas Rhea.

Catches Youth

The case was referred to the grand jury. A 15-year-old juvenile, whose name was withheld because of his age, will be petitioned into Family Court on similar charges, according to State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes of the Kingston substation.

After 10 p. m. yesterday, authorities said, Fondino received a call at his place of business from a neighbor, who said someone was in the Fondino home. Fondino hurried home and on arrival found a boy jumping from a window. Fondino gave chase and collared the juvenile, who was later charged.

Learn About Other ...

Trooper John Kohland and Town Constable John Pavlak investigated with BCI Investigator Joseph Franke and after questioning the boy, learned that Whittaker allegedly was involved in the burglary. The youth was taken into custody.

Sergeant Rhodes said his investigation disclosed the youth and boy were allegedly involved in a burglary last Friday night at the home of Charles Nelson, Indian Spring Road, Whittier development, where a piggy bank containing about $15 was taken.

Cuba Trade Change Is Asked of Britain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials are understood to have urged anew in private talks here this week that Britain revise its policy of trade with Cuba and support the U.S. effort to deny vitally needed industrial and transportation equipment to the Castro government.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has held a series of discussions on world problems with British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler. President Johnson had a conference with Butler Wednesday.

Confirmed by Officials

Officials have confirmed that Cuban issues were raised in the Rusk-Butler talks. The White House only said that the foreign secretary and the President discussed matters of mutual interest.

Butler has been in Washington for a conference of the Central Treaty Organization which ended Wednesday. He is going on to Japan and the Philippines for talks seeking some way to avoid a serious crisis betweeen Indonesia and British-backed Malaysia over territorial claims pressed by Indonesia.

Butler is understood to be pleased by the support Britain has received from the United States in its efforts to preserve the territorial integrity of Malaysia.

Leaders Displaced

Top U.S. officials by contrast are known to be displeased by Britain's Cuban trade policy which they regard as a breaking of the barrier of economic isolation from non-Communist trade which the United States has been working to build around Cuba.

Butler is believed to have been told, as U.S. officials have recently said publicly, that the denial of important industrial and transportation supplies to Castro is the only effective weapon presently available to the United States for countering Castro's attempts to spread communism in the Western Hemisphere through propaganda and subversion.

The British counterargument to the U.S. boycott policy is that the boycott is not really effective, that the United States trades with various Commmunist countries including the Soviet Union, and that Britain traditionally trades with all countries regardless of political considerations.

Britain made a deal with the Castro government last January to sell Cuba 450 buses and spare parts at a total cost in excess of $12 million. France followed with a deal to sell trucks to Castro. The United States protested against both sales.

Says Quake Left 7-Minute Hole In Radar Warning

TOKYO (AP)— Gen. John K. Gerhart, commander in chief of the North American Defense Command, said today a power failure during the Alaska earthquake last month knocked a seven-minute hole in America's radar warning system against surprise attack.

Gerhart's disclosure to newsmen contradicted a Defense Department announcement shortly after the quake that the warning system across North America had continued to function normally.

Gerhart said generators at the warning installation at Clear, Alaska, broke down but power was swiftly restored.

"We cranked up and made the necessary repairs," he said.

The general, who is completing a tour of U.S. bases in Asia and the Pacific, said there were no plans to construct "back-up" installations in the warning net.

To duplicate the massive, expensive installations at Clear would serve no useful purpose, he said.

Gerhart said the Soviets appear to have some antimissile missiles but there is no indication a massive program is under way to produce them. He said he hoped there would be a decision on manufacture of U.S. antimissile missiles by the first of next year and that this gap would be filled by 1970 or 1971.

Castle Is Target of 7 Shells

Makarios Favors Peace Proposal

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)— Mortar shelling by Greek Cypriots ringing St. Hilarion Castle today broke the cease-fire proclaimed by their government only 13 hours before.

The United Nations announced seven mortar shells were fired in 15 minutes at the Turkish Cypriot stronghold in the Kyrenia Mountains, resuming an offensive the Greek Cypriots have waged with the professed aim of clearing Turkish Cypriot gunposts from the Nicosia-Kyrenia highway and vantage points overlooking Greek villages.

No Report of Damage

There was no immediate report of damage to the castle.

A spokesman for the Greek Cypriot government expressed surprise at the U.N. announcement. He said that, so far as he knew, the cease-fire still was supposed to be in effect.

The United Nations thrust a new element into the confused situation. After telling of the shelling, the United Nations said it is going to set up permanent observation posts in the Kyrenia range, where it has been using patrols to try to stop the fighting.

"Now that President Makarios has ordered his government forces to cease fire in the area, it has been decided to convert these patrols into permanent U.N. posts in the area," it was announced. "It is hoped this cease - fire will be fully observed."

Nine-Point Plan

Two U.N. patrols came under fire in a continuation of the hostilities that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant is seeking to end through a new nine-point peace plan, presented Wednesday to the Security Council in New York. There were no casualties in either case.

Canadians of the peace force drew fire on a visit to the Turkish village of Aghirda, in the Kyrenia fooothills 10 miles north of Nicosia. Presumably the shots came from Greek Cypriot positions in the range overloooking the village. The Canadians did not return the fire.

A Swedish contingent disarmed a group of Cypriot battlers Wednesday night for the first time since the peace force went into operation March 27. The Swedes seized weapons from Greeek Cypriots who apparently had fired on them in the mixed Greeek-Turkish village of Timi, near the western port of Paphos.

Swedes Attacked

A U.N. spokesman said the Swedes were attacked when they intervened to halt a gun fight between Greek and Turkish Cypriots. He said the Swedes fired 45 rounds before halting the fight.

Both the U.N. command and the Turkish Cypriots had looked with skepticism on the cease-fire, which was announced after both Thant and the U.N. command of Indian Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani put strong pressure on the Greek Cypriots to drop the Kyrenia campaign.

In Nicosia, the first reaction of the Makarios regime to Thant's call for peace was favorable. A government spokes-

State Ponders Exceptions For Yule Street Banners

Several strong protests against the ban on Christmas decorations across main streets of towns and villages in the state is generating serious second thoughts in the minds of State Public Works Department officials.

According to an Albany report by the Associated Press, the penalties for violations range from $100 to $1,000 per day.

Last month, The Freeman reported that if the State Public Works Department can enforce a state highway law which bans lights, signs and banners strung across a state thoroughfare, Christmas decorations will be missing from across the main streets in villages and towns throughout the county and state.

"The law gives the superintendent some discretion in the matter. He's now going to have to dicide whether to make some exceptions."

According to the Public Works Department, the practice is a safety hazard and is prohibited by a state law that seldom has been enforced in such instances.

The law empowers the public works superintendent to restrict the hanging of lights, banners or any other object across highways maintained by the state. It does not apply to decorations hung on light poles—as long as they are not strung across the roadway.

Since most cities maintain the state's thoroughfares themselves, the ban applies almost entirely to villages and towns, where the state handles maintenance of highways passing through.

The department began during

Scranton Sees Bundle of Trouble Next November for Pennsylvania Democrats

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, taking note of Tuesday's primary election in his state, predicts trouble for Democrats in Pennsylvania next November.

He said "it is quite clear" the Democratic party "is broke to pieces" in Pennsylvania. He added that President Johnson will have "a hard time in his own party" in Pennsylvania next November because of an "internecine fight of major proportions."

The governor, at a news conference Wednesday, also repeated that he is not a candidate for nomination, despite the write-in vote of more than 220,000 votes —a state record — he received.

He based his prediction of Democratic troubles in November on the close race between State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno and Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate. Miss Blatt is holding a slim lead. The outcome will have to await the counting of some 10,000 absentee ballots early in May.

Scranton expressed surprise at his write-in total, which topped a previous state high of 183,073 votes recorded by the late President John F. Kennedy in 1960.

The governor said he guessed his total might reach 40,000; his wife, Mary, guessed 67,000.

The governor will go to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco in July with 62 of the state's 64 delegates pledged to him as a favorite son.

Second only to Scranton's total was the write-in vote for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge who polled almost 80,000 votes. His showing was more than double that of Richard M. Nixon, former vice president, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican. The only two delegates elected by Republicans in the state not pledged to Scranton as a favorite son are Goldwater men.

But it was the battle by Miss Blatt against the Democratic organization which attracted the most interest in the state.

Incumbent Sen. Hugh R. Scott, Republican, had no trouble winning renomination, soundly defeating W. Henry MacFarland, a fellow Philadelphian, by a margin of almost 8-1.

With all but 19 of the state's 9,261 precincts reported unofficially, Miss Blatt led Musmanno—454,020 to 450,566.

Along Capitol Corridors

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits apparently is mounting an undeclared campaign for the Republican nomination for vice president.

Friends and close political associates of Javits say he is interested in the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket and wants to be considered when the choice is made.

It is Javits' ambition, they say, to make political history by becoming the first Jew to be nominated for national office—and to be elected.

Won't Admit Ambition

A Javits candidacy must assume that Gov. Rockefeller would not be nominated for the presidency since — aside from political practicalities—the U.S. Constitution specifies that the president and vice president may not come from the same state.

This is one of the reasons why Javits may not admit his ambition. He has been a vocal supporter of Rockefeller's presidential candidacy and is obliged by political custom to remain optimistic about the governor's chances.

The second barrier to overt action is tradition. You simply do not campaign for the vice presidency. You're supposed to wait patiently for the nod, meanwhile doing your best to show your availability and your qualifications.

Good Vote-Getter

As a vote-getter, Javits' credentials speak for themselves. He has been a big winner in three statewide elections and seems to grow stronger each time out. In 1962, Javits ran well ahead of Rockefeller and accomplished the dazzling feat —for a Republican — of carrying New York City.

Thus the most attractive inducement he can offer a presidential nominee looking for a running mate is the prospect that he could help swing New York State's 43 electoral votes into the GOP column.

His other major claim to consideration is his ardent championship of the civil rights cause. At a time when civil rights has become the chief preoccupation of the country, Javits' liberal record on this isssue could provide just the right "balance" for a Republican nominee with more moderate views.

The most obvious sign of Javits' undeclared campaign was the publication last week of his book entitled "Order of Battle — with the subtitle "A Republican's Call to Reason." In the book, Javits sets forth a Republican philosopy, as Barry Goldwater did in "Conscience of a Conservative."

Those wise in the ways of politicians know that such a major work usually is timed to coincide with the author's bid for re-election or for higher office. Javits' term in the Senate does not expire until 1968.

Other Signs

Other signs can be seen in Javits' effort to play a conspicuous role in the current civil rights debate in the Senate and in his readiness to accept speaking engagements in other states.

To whose star could Javits hitch a vice presidential wagon?

Because of the constitutional barrier, he could not run with Richard Nixon, now a New York resident.

Because Goldwater has some Jewish lineage himself, the dictates of ticket-balancing probably would rule out a combination with the Arizona senator.

Despite some pros and cons in each case, this leaves such prominent possibilities as Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Michigan's Gov. George Romney and Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton — plus the field of "dark horses," such as Kentucky's Sen. Thruston Morton.

Whether Javits has a real chance for his goal is not known —but he apparently intends to find out.

Long Overdue, Though

Rocky Endorses War on Poverty

BECKLEY, W.Va. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller endorsed the Johnson administration's war on poverty in the Appalachian area today, but complained it was long overdue.

"It seems that the interest of the Democrats in the future of West Virginia reaches its peak when a national election is close at hand," the New York governor asserted.

For Full State Role

While supporting the basic goals of the antipoverty plan now pending in Congress, Rockefeller said it was important that the states "play a full role with the federal government so as to prevent the program from becoming a football of self-perpetuating Washington bureaucracies."

The governor commented in a speech for a luncheon rally.

He shifted his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination to West Virginia after winding up a three-day tour of the West Coast Wednesday last night.

Earlier in the day, he delivered another sharp attack on Sen. Barry Goldwater, his only opponent in the California primary.

In a television interview Wednesday the governor said Goldwater "certainly isn't a Republican" when his votes are compared with positions in the GOP's 1960 platform.

Cites Barry's Votes

Rockefeller cited Goldwater votes against civil rights legislation, the limited nuclear-test-ban treaty, federal aid to higher education and medical care for the needy aged.

In today's speech Rockefeller dealt exclusively with economic problems of West Virginia and the rest of the Appalachian area.

Rockefeller said a Democratic campaign promise of 1960 was to deal with West Virginia's problems as "a first order of business."

"What happened?" the governor asked. "Virtually nothing. Despite these campaign promises, no effective over-all program to spur economic growth in the region was initiated."

"But now," he continued, "in the election year of 1964, the Democratic administration has finally come up with a plan."

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler and Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan got into a cocktail party argument Wednesday night about American reconnaissance flights over Cuba.

"There was no meeting of minds," Kohler told newsmen after the exchange, described by witnesses as amiable but firm. The conversation took place at a Japanese Embassy reception.

Mikoyan brought up the subject of continued U2 flights over Cuba, reiterating the Soviet contention that the overflights were illegal under international law.

Kohler repeated President Johnson's view that the United States had the right to continue the flights because Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro had refused on-site inspection to confirm withdrawal of Soviet missiles in October 1962.

New Officers Announced For Benedictine Staff

At the annual dinner meeting of the Benedictine Hospital Medical Staff, held recently, Rev. Mother M. Cornelia OSB, mother superior of the Benedictine Community and president of Benedictine Hospital governing board, announced the appointment of Dr. John A. Cooke Jr. to the presidency of the Medical Executive Committee.

Dr. Cooke who formerly served as vice president of the committee was elected for a term of 2 years. He replaces outgoing President Dr. Robert McCaig, who acted as dinner chairman.

In accepting the presidency, Dr. Cooke said, "I wish to thank the attending medical staff for their display of confidence in me . . . we all owe Dr. McCaig a vote of thanks for all he has done . . . we shall continue to strive to keep providing excellent medical care to the entire community."

Other Appointments

Other appointments made by Rev. Mother Cornelia were as follows:

Dr. Michael F. Diacovo was made vice president of the Medical Executive Committee. He has been replaced as chief of obstetrical and Gynecology Department by Dr. Francis LoGalbo. Dr. George F. Einterz was made chief of General Practice Department, and Dr. Emil S. Goodyear was appointed Surgery Department representative.

Dr. Cooke was retained as chief of Surgery Department Dr. James R. Clarkin was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Medical Executive Committee as was Dr. John A. Olivet, chief of Department of Medicine.

Outgoing President Dr. Robert A. McCaig in his report stated that "growth and progress best describes activities at Benedictine Hospital.

"Generally speaking, all departments registered a substantial increase in services rendered, and medical admissions were up 38 per cent." Dr. McCaig also praised the teamwork of the Benedictine Hospital medical staff.

Rev. Mother M. Cornelia also acted as guest speaker. She paid tribute to the dedicated and zealous work of Benedictine doctors. She went on to say, "Your unselfish efforts have helped set the highest standards of medical care at Benedictine Hospital. And the area is indebted to you for your time, your energy, and your care of the sick. The enviable trend of medical progress which has been established at Benedictine Hospital has been set by you."

The invocation was offered by the Rev. Edward Kelly, chaplain at Benedictine. All Benedictine Hospital doctors and dentists were invited, as well as the advisory board.

Rocky Endorses War on Poverty

BECKLEY, W.Va. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller endorsed the Johnson administration's war on poverty in the Appalachian area today, but complained it was long overdue.

"It seems that the interest of the Democrats in the future of West Virginia reaches its peak when a national election is close at hand," the New York governor asserted.

For Full State Role

While supporting the basic goals of the antipoverty plan now pending in Congress, Rockefeller said it was important that the states "play a full role with the federal government so as to prevent the program from becoming a football of self-perpetuating Washington bureaucracies."

The governor commented in a speech for a luncheon rally.

He shifted his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination to West Virginia after winding up a three-day tour of the West Coast Wednesday last night.

Earlier in the day, he delivered another sharp attack on Sen. Barry Goldwater, his only opponent in the California primary.

In a television interview Wednesday the governor said Goldwater "certainly isn't a Republican" when his votes are compared with positions in the GOP's 1960 platform.

Cites Barry's Votes

Rockefeller cited Goldwater votes against civil rights legislation, the limited nuclear-test-ban treaty, federal aid to higher education and medical care for the needy aged.

In today's speech Rockefeller dealt exclusively with economic problems of West Virginia and the rest of the Appalachian area.

Rockefeller said a Democratic campaign promise of 1960 was to deal with West Virginia's problems as "a first order of business."

"What happened?" the governor asked. "Virtually nothing. Despite these campaign promises, no effective over-all program to spur economic growth in the region was initiated."

"But now," he continued, "in the election year of 1964, the Democratic administration has finally come up with a plan."

TWINED HEARTS — AUTOMATED

Romance is one field of human endeavor which you might think would be immune to the advances of technology. And yet match-making machines—kissing cousins to computers—are programming Cupid right out of a job.

It all started when some unromantic soul went into partnership with an electronic business machine and set it to work pairing off young men and women in compatible twosomes.

As a result, matchmaking centers have been set up in several major cities. Business according to the boy-meet-girl people, couldn't be better.

"Miss Brown," the machine might say, "meet Mr. Smith. Both of you like jazz, hate olives, are allergic to cats and take long walks. You're ideally suited to each other. Have fun."

Actually, the machines don't match personality to personality but, by the unromantic process of card elimination, find two or three suitable mates for the inquiring client. Someone who's looking for a mother-image, for example, wouldn't be happy with a clinging vine.

If automated romance becomes fashionable, where will it all end?

Perhaps your great-granchildren will depend for introductions on the local computer, instead of today's overworked mutual friends. Or young couples may have to apply to a computer for compatibility tests before being issued a marriage license.

But be of good cheer: A computer will never be able to program so unpredictable an item as love in the male-female relationship. And love, they say, conquers all. Even computers.

The Soviet-Chinese "war of words" probably won't develop into a shooting war, says an expert observer. But if the two sides keep shooting off their mouths it'll divert attention from the West.

A RARE EVENT

One may argue, as many governments seem prone to do, that the tens of billions of dollars in foreign aid dispensed by the United States all over the world since World War II proceeded ultimately from our own self-interest. To expect thanks for all this money is just another indication of American naivete, if not hypocrisy.

Even so, it's nice to be thanked once in a while, and any expression of gratitude from abroad, however restrained, is such a rare event that it bears repeating.

Noting that U. S. aid to Britain, which began with Lend-Lease in 1940, is now virtually ended. The Economist of London recently wrote:

"The United States has given Britain $8.7 billion since the war. It would be hard to imagine a European state in America's post-war position taking such a long and broad view of its interest.

"Now that Western Europe, including Britain, is prospering, the least we can do is to pay tribute to the relative and partner who nursed us back to self-earned health, both when our life was in danger and when we were being debilitatedly convalescent."

Thank you, Economist!

NOSE FOR NO NEWS

"Your freedom to swing your arms ends where my nose begins" is a picturesque way of defining the limits of individual liberty.

The phrase is brought to mind by a report on an article by a Polish magazine editor.

Replying to demands by leading Polish intellectuals for a relaxation of censorship, Janusz Wilhelmi, editor of "Kultura," explained that the "perimeter of freedom" is determined by the "historic needs" of the nation.

"We select, prefer and reject," he wrote. What is rejected are those books or plays "whose ideological and moral contents are antisocialist."

The kicker in this argument is the word "we." It is certainly not to be confused with "we, the people," who had nothing to do with selecting, preferring or rejecting those in power who try to tell them what they may think and what they may say.

In Poland, as in all other totalitarian lands, the "nose" that limits freedom belongs to the government. It is particularly sensitive and is so long that it pokes its way into matters that in a democracy are considered none of its business.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE YOUNG CONSERVATIVE PUSH

When Barry Goldwater looked into the faces of an enthusiastic welcoming throng on the State Capitol grounds in Hartford, Conn., the other day, he must have had mixed feelings. The crowd was vociferously for him — but the placards read "Uconn Conservatives for Goldwater" and "Trinity Students for Goldwater," and some of those who were holding the signs aloft could not have been old enough to vote next November. Meanwhile, West Hartford, a suburb favored by the successful (and therefore the middle-aged), had just gone for Henry Cabot Lodge in a preference vote.

However, if not all of Barry Goldwater's loyal legions will be in a position next autumn to help him in the voting booths, younger conservatives are most definitely moving on the scene in Republican politics. I have just got the word that Brent Bozell, a young man of great intelligence and considerable legal, literary and oratorical attainments, has jumped into the campaign for the Republican Congressional nomination in the Sixth District of Maryland. Mr. Bozell is fighting to wrest a House of Representatives seat from Charles Mathias, a Republican whose record of voting with the Democrats is only exceeded by that of Congressman John Lindsay and Seymour Halpern. The Leftist ADA gives Mathias a 75 per cent rating, which is three points higher than its rating for the Democratic Congressmen as a whole. Mathias has been endorsed by Nelson Rockefeller for the liberal Republicans — and by COPE for labor.

Like others of his young generation, Brent Bozell is for a more discriminating polarization of the parties. He has been called an extremist by Mr. Mathias, but from long-time professional association with Mr Bozell in magazine work I know that he is far less "extreme" on the Right than Mr. Mathias is extreme on the Left.

If you want to call it an extremity, Mr. Bozell is currently pushing the fight for a constitutional amendment to permit the public schools to restore voluntary prayer to its old position in the daily round. Mathias, on the other hand, is on the Congressional Committee that has bottled up the prayer amendment. He refused to sign a petition that would have discharged the amendment for consideration on the floor of the House. The proponents of discharge now number 170, but 218 signatures are needed.

Brent Bozell is a lawyer, a graduate of the Yale Law School, who is currently engaged in writing a book on the U. S. Supreme Court. He knows constitutional law backward and forward, and his contention is that the First Amendment in the Bill of Rights, in prohibiting Congress from ordaining an established religion for the nation, is absolutely mum on the prayer issue as it affects individual communities, which retain all non-enumerated rights and powers under the Tenth Amendment. A voluntary prayer in a public school, so the constitutionalist Bozell affirms, could hardly infringe upon the rights of atheists and agnostics, who have only to remain silent or even to curse God in their hearts as others are praying.

Bozell has in his corner, as his campaign treasurer, a distinguished Maryland resident, General Al Wedemeyer. He also has the support of Lewis Strauss, former head of the Atomic Energy Commission which is housed in some imposing buildings in the Maryland countryside. Barry Goldwater is another Bozell adherent. Since Bozell was Goldwater's literary assistant and consultant in the writing of the Senator's "The Conscience of a Conservative," one knows definitely where Bozell's own conscience lies.

Bozell's chance for victory on May 19 primary day depends on the balance between his own Montgomery County, which is to Washington, D. C. what Westchester is to New York City, and the Appalachian mountain counties of the extreme western Maryland panhandle. The Republican majority on the Montgomery County Council, representing more than one-half of the voters in its area, have come out for Bozell on the ground that he is a real Republican, not a Dem-republican like Mathias.

So the young move up. The groundswell will take on even greater volumne when the young conservatives who now dominate college campuses move out into the world.

The DOCTOR SAYS

The Nervous Breakdown: Vague Term, But Very Real

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

What is a nervous breakdown? Doctors find this term vague. Medical textbooks skirt around it. Yet it describes a condition that is far from being imaginary.

Breakdowns are not caused by simple overwork, as some persons believe, but by the fear that one cannot quite live up to all that is expected of him day after day.

Most persons who are on the verge of a breakdown, even though they sense this fear, are unwilling or unable to admit that it is the cause of their trouble. So they seek medical advice for a host of symptoms such as palpitation of the heart, indigestion, generalized body aches and chronic fatigue.

Since a breakdown is not considered a communicable disease, there are no accurate statistics on how many nervous breakdowns occur in this country every year. But either a nervous breakdown or a threatened breakdown form a large part of the practice of most general practitioners and psychiatrists. When the external pressures of a person's work or his home life become so great that they are disabling, help is usually sought. Unfortunately, the victim rarely has the insight into what is happening to him to be able to give his doctor all the pertinent facts.

As a result, much time and money may be spent putting the victim through a battery of diagnostic tests to rule out organic disease. Organic disease should, of course, be ruled out. But this can be done more quickly if your doctor knows something about your personal life and especially your worries. These are often the hardest things for a person to bring himself to talk about, even to his doctor.

Because of the complexity of this situation, it is not possible to offer any pat formula for recovery. Some victims find it necessary to change their line of work. But a life of idleness is never the answer. Some find solace in religion and others are cured by taking up a hobby.

The main thing is to recast one's sense of values and to realize that money isn't everything. Without health, mere status symbols have no meaning. Prestige depends not on the task you are called on to perform but on how well you do it.

A long rest or a change of scene will have no lasting effect if you must return to the same frustrations. But a rest or a trip may help you to bring your everyday problems into sharper focus and to work out your own path of recovery.

Down Boy!

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The strategy forces of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater are beginning to push hard to achieve new momentum which might carry him to first-ballot nomination at San Francisco in July.

Fresh signs of forward motion are needed to offset an expected defeat in the May 15 Oregon primary, recent low scores in national polls, the comparatively modest 512,000-vote total in the Illinois primary.

SPOT CHECKS around the nation indicate that the senator's efforts to force the pace may bear important fruit. There are also indications that some of this pressure may generate damaging reactions.

Tennessee is a key item in the new drive. Goldwater men are putting every ounce of steam into a heightened bid for all 28 delegates. With the senator's "sell TVA" statement rankling in many politicians' bosoms, the outlook for months has been 18 at the most.

District conventions in Tennessee have been yielding just about the expected results. But Goldwater's strategists are now pressing for a dramatic commitment at the May 2 state convention which would largely wrap up the whole bundle.

Sources in Tennessee report a "swing back to Barry," which suggests a better-than-even chance this strategy may work.

All along, independent appraisers have conjectured that Goldwater would fall about 30 votes short of capturing the 11-state South's convention total of 279. If Goldwater can successfully force the issue in Tennessee May 2, he can close one third of that small but significant gap.

EARLY REPORTS from city and county conventions indicate similar pressures may be at work in Virginia, where another sizable Goldwater loss has been in prospect. The state's 30 delegates will be named in a convention June 13.

But the new head of steam is being felt well beyond the South. Tension has been high in recent delegate battles in Kansas and Iowa as Goldwater leaders turned their levers for maximum effect.

After the dust settled in Kansas, Goldwater appeared to have gained a fighting chance to win a bare majority of the state's 20 delegates, whereas earlier it seemed he might fall as low as eight. Yet the outcome still has to be regarded as somewhat fuzzy.

The Goldwater vs. anti-Goldwater fight in Kansas, curiously entangled with purely state issues and personalities, stirred bitter resentments.

The delegate-choosing preliminaries in Iowa, with 24 votes at stake, were even more painful. Angry Goldwater backers in some sectors threatened non-co-operation with the party organization. Moderates were annoyed when William Knowland, Goldwater's California chief, came into Iowa exhorting all to "get on the bandwagon."

THE NET OF ALL THIS is that Goldwater, despite reverses and erosions, is keeping his actual and potential convention delegate total somewhere above 500 out of the 655 needed to nominate. This leaves out of account many "leaners" who could be his if the game clearly is going his way.

The goal of the new hard-push strategy, obviously, is to boost the Goldwater potential enough so that a confidently hoped-for victory over New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in the 86-vote California primary would put the senator on the edge of triumph and thus attract all the leaners—and more.

But the present maneuvering is not without its price. Hostile reactions have already been noted. In some quarters the strategy is viewed as evidence of real fear in the Goldwater camp. More than a few state leaders say they think substantial parts of the senator's delegate potential are at the breakaway point. They consider his totals deceptive.

Realists nevertheless argue that the big numbers are still with Barry. And if the new pressures can add materially to them, he could conceivably go over the top a month before convention time. Yet the test of the stepped-up effort still lies ahead.

Economic Observers Can't See Eye to Eye With LBJ

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Most people, upon reading in their newspapers on Wednesday of this week a speech by President Johnson telling of the large profits of business and promising further tax cuts, must have gained the impression that everything is all right in the national economy. They probably would be surprised to learn that many observers who have given close attention to economic factors are fearful of the future and believe that the finances of the Federal Government today are in one of the most dangerous positions they have been in during any peacetime year in our history.

When the President made his speech at a dinner of business and financial leaders at the White House, he told only one part of the story. He emphasized that profits in business have risen from $21.8 billion in 1961 to $27.1 billion in 1963, and are expected to reach $31 billion in 1964. He didn't tell his audience, however, that the profits of corporations in 1961 were at a very low rate. They are estimated at 6.1 per cent of the national income for 1964, whereas in 1950 they had reached 9.4 per cent. This indicates clearly that, while the national income has grown, the rate of profit has actually declined.

One reason for this, of course, is that wage costs have gone up from 65 per cent of the national income in 1947 to an estimated 71.1 per cent in 1964. Even in relation to the total volume of sales, profits are also down. Thus, earnings after taxes were 6.5 pre cent of sales in 1947-49, and are now estimated for 1964 at 5 per cent.

Future of Dollar?

But most important of all is the impact of unsound fiscal policy on the future value of the dollar. Thus, in his speech, the President said:

"It is too early to make firm promises on further tax cuts, but if this one is a success — as I have every reason to believe it will be — in buliding production, creating jobs, raising profits, and generating revenues to balance the budget, then I see another tax cut a few years down the road."

But this has not been the experience with previous tax cuts. The gains have been temporary, and the real measure of progress is whether the purchasing power of the dollar declines or rises. The monetary unit has been going down steadily for the last several years.

Debt Keeps Rising

Nowhere in President Johnson's speech was there a single reference to the enormous debt of the Federal Government. It is around $310 billion—the largest in history. Although it has been 11 years since the close of the Korean War and 19 years since the end of World War II, there has been no reduction of the national debt. It has risen constantly.

How long can any government maintain public confidence in its monetary unit if the national debt is not reduced? The argument now is made that the tax cut will soon produce a budget surplus because, as the President puts it, there is an expectation of increases in production and in the number of jobs. But overlooked is the fact that, of the purchasing power of the dollar is steadily cut down, more wage increases are made necessary and, as profits are correspondingly reduced, prices have to be raised. This is what is customarily called an inflationary cycle.

The danger in the present situation is that, if the lending public ever comes to the conclusion that the government of the United States is going to continue to borrow more every year without reducing its debt, there will have to be a substantial increase in interest rates. The lender who foresees a depreciation in the dollar will want the equivalent of higher wages for the loan of his money. When interest rates on government borrowings go upward, the interest rates in the commercial world are, of course, pushed higher, too. This adds to business costs and tends to reduce the rate of profit.

Business May Be Helpless

Sooner or later, the high interest rates produce a setback in the economy. This was a key factor in the 1929 crash and what ensued thereafter. The President hinted in his speech that he hopes the federal reserve system will keep interest rates down, and he warns business to hold its prices down. But business will be helpless against the inflation that is actually caused by the government's own fiscal policies.

The President, for instance, now is talking about "further tax cuts" and has not indicated that any action will be taken to use any surplus in the budget to pay off debt. What he proposes instead is more tax cuts. Based on past experience, this means more and more deficits and the further weakening of the purchasing power of the dollar.

Unfortunately, in government circles there is not much of a tendency to look ahead several years. The custom is to look only a few months ahead to a national election, the winning of which is directly related to how widely an impression of prosperity can be conveyed by administration spokesmen. The picture that is being painted by them today is rosy indeed. But it was very rosy in 1929, too, until the facts of economic life began to emerge in a national economy that outwardly was booming but inwardly was struggling in vain against credit inflation and high interest rates.

Everything written about or by John Burroughs is growing in interest, and Mrs. Elizabeth B. Mrs. Delia Shaw of New Paltz, sent me two items. One is dated June 1913 and describes "A Wedding at Slabsides" the other is dated March 1917 and tells about the death of Mrs. Ursula Burroughs.

Mrs. Kelley writes about it: "I remember, too, the wedding at Slabsides. There was an earlier one, but I was too small at the time. TWINED HEARTS — AUTOMATED

Romance is one field of human endeavor which you might think would be immune to the advances of technology. And yet matchmaking machines—kissing cousins to computers—are programming Cupid right out of a job.

It all started when some unromantic soul went into partnership with an electronic business machine and set it to work pairing off young men and women in compatible twosomes.

As a result, matchmaking centers have been set up in several major cities. Business according to the boy-meet-girl people, couldn't be better.

"Miss Brown," the machine might say, "meet Mr. Smith. Both of you like jazz, hate olives, are allergic to cats and take long walks. You're ideally suited to each other. Have fun."

Actually, the machines don't match personality to personality but, by the unromantic process of card elimination, find two or three suitable mates for the inquiring client. Someone who's looking for a mother-image, for example, wouldn't be happy with a clinging vine.

If automated romance becomes fashionable, where will it all end?

Perhaps your great-granchildren will depend for introductions on the local computer, instead of today's overworked mutual friends. Or young couples may have to apply to a computer for compatibility tests before being issued a marriage license.

But be of good cheer: A computer will never be able to program so unpredictable an item as love in the male-female relationship. And love, they say, conquers all. Even computers.

The Soviet-Chinese "war of words" probably won't develop into a shooting war, says an expert observer. But if the two sides keep shooting off their mouths it'll divert attention from the West.

A RARE EVENT

One may argue, as many governments seem prone to do, that the tens of billions of dollars in foreign aid dispensed by the United States all over the world since World War II proceeded ultimately from our own self-interest. To expect thanks for all this money is just another indication of American naivete, if not hypocrisy.

Even so, it's nice to be thanked once in a while, and any expression of gratitude from abroad, however restrained, is such a rare event that it bears repeating.

Noting that U. S. aid to Britain, which began with Lend-Lease in 1940, is now virtually ended. The Economist of London recently wrote:

"The United States has given Britain $8.7 billion since the war. It would be hard to imagine a European state in America's post-war position taking such a long and broad view of its interest.

"Now that Western Europe, including Britain, is prospering, the least we can do is to pay tribute to the relative and partner who nursed us back to self-earned health, both when our life was in danger and when we were being debilitatedly convalescent."

Thank you, Economist!

NOSE FOR NO NEWS

"Your freedom to swing your arms ends where my nose begins" is a picturesque way of defining the limits of individual liberty.

The phrase is brought to mind by a report on an article by a Polish magazine editor.

Replying to demands by leading Polish intellectuals for a relaxation of censorship, Janusz Wilhelmi, editor of "Kultura," explained that the "perimeter of freedom" is determined by the "historic needs" of the nation.

"We select, prefer and reject," he wrote. What is rejected are those books or plays "whose ideological and moral contents are antisocialist."

The kicker in this argument is the word "we." It is certainly not to be confused with "we, the people," who had nothing to do with selecting, preferring or rejecting those in power who try to tell them what they may think and what they may say.

In Poland, as in all other totalitarian lands, the "nose" that limits freedom belongs to the government. It is particularly sensitive and is so long that it pokes its way into matters that in a democracy are considered none of its business.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE YOUNG CONSERVATIVE PUSH

When Barry Goldwater looked into the faces of an enthusiastic welcoming throng on the State Capitol grounds in Hartford, Conn., the other day, he must have had mixed feelings. The crowd was vociferously for him — but the placards read "Uconn Conservatives for Goldwater" and "Trinity Students for Goldwater," and some of those who were holding the signs aloft could not have been old enough to vote next November. Meanwhile, West Hartford, a suburb favored by the successful (and therefore the middle-aged), had just gone for Henry Cabot Lodge in a preference vote.

However, if not all of Barry Goldwater's loyal legions will be in a position next autumn to help him in the voting booths, younger conservatives are most definitely moving on the scene in Republican politics. I have just got the word that Brent Bozell, a young man of great intelligence and considerable legal, literary and oratorical attainments, has jumped into the campaign for the Republican Congressional nomination in the Sixth District of Maryland. Mr. Bozell is fighting to wrest a House of Representatives seat from Charles Mathias, a Republican whose record of voting with the Democrats is only exceeded by that of Congressman John Lindsay and Seymour Halpern. The Leftist ADA gives Mathias a 75 per cent rating, which is three points higher than its rating for the Democratic Congressmen as a whole. Mathias has been endorsed by Nelson Rockefeller for the liberal Republicans — and by COPE for labor.

Like others of his young generation, Brent Bozell is for a more discriminating polarization of the parties. He has been called an extremist by Mr. Mathias, but from long-time professional association with Mr. Bozell in magazine work I know that he is far less "extreme" on the Right than Mr. Mathias is extreme on the Left.

If you want to call it an extremity, Mr. Bozell is currently pushing the fight for a constitutional amendment to permit the public schools to restore voluntary prayer to its old position in the daily round. Mathias, on the other hand, is on the Congressional Committee that has bottled up the prayer amendment. He refused to sign a petition that would have discharged the amendment for consideration on the floor of the House. The proponents of discharge now number 170, but 218 signatures are needed.

Brent Bozell is a lawyer, a graduate of the Yale Law School, who is currently engaged in writing a book on the U. S. Supreme Court. He knows constitutional law backward and forward, and his contention is that the First Amendment in the Bill of Rights, in prohibiting Congress from ordaining an established religion for the nation, is absolutely mum on the prayer issue as it affects individual communities, which retain all non-enumerated rights and powers under the Tenth Amendment. A voluntary prayer in a public school, so the constitutionalist Bozell affirms, could hardly infringe upon the rights of atheists and agnostics, who have only to remain silent or even to curse God in their hearts as others are praying.

Bozell has in his corner, as his campaign treasurer, a distinguished Maryland resident, General Al Wedemeyer. He also has the support of Lewis Strauss, former head of the Atomic Energy Commission which is housed in some imposing buildings in the Maryland countryside. Barry Goldwater is another Bozell adherent. Since Bozell was Goldwater's literary assistant and consultant in the writing of the Senator's "The Conscience of a Conservative," one knows definitely where Bozell's own conscience lies.

Bozell's chance for victory on May 19 primary day depends on the balance between his own Montgomery County, which is to Washington, D. C. what Westchester is to New York City, and the Appalachian mountain counties of the extreme western Maryland panhandle. The Republican majority on the Montgomery County Council, representing more than one-half of the voters in its area, have come out for Bozell on the ground that he is a real Republican, not a Democrat-republican like Mathias.

So the young move up. The groundswell will take on even greater volumne when the young conservatives who now dominate college campuses move out into the world.

The DOCTOR SAYS

The Nervous Breakdown: Vague Term, But Very Real

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

What is a nervous breakdown? Doctors find this term vague. Medical textbooks skirt around it. Yet it describes a condition that is far from being imaginary.

Breakdowns are not caused by simple overwork, as some persons believe, but by the fear that one cannot quite live up to all that is expected of him day after day.

Most persons who are on the verge of a breakdown, even though they sense this fear, are unwilling or unable to admit that it is the cause of their trouble. So they seek medical advice for a host of symptoms such as palpitation of the heart, indigestion, generalized body aches and chronic fatigue.

Since a breakdown is not considered a communicable disease, there are no accurate statistics on how many nervous breakdowns occur in this country every year. But either a nervous breakdown or a threatened breakdown form a large part of the practice of most general practitioners and psychiatrists. When the external pressures of a person's work or his home life become so great that they are disabling, help is usually sought. Unfortunately, the victim rarely has the insight into what is happening to him to be able to give his doctor all the pertinent facts.

As a result, much time and money may be spent putting the victim through a battery of diagnostic tests to rule out organic disease. Organic disease should, of course, be ruled out. But this can be done more quickly if your doctor knows something about your personal life and especially your worries. These are often the hardest things for a person to bring himself to talk about, even to his doctor.

Because of the complexity of this situation, it is not possible to offer any pat formula for recovery. Some victims find it necessary to change their line of work. But a life of idleness is never the answer. Some find solace in religion and others are cured by taking up a hobby.

The main thing is to recast one's sense of values and to realize that money isn't everything. Without health, mere status symbols have no meaning. Prestige depends not on the task you are called on to perform but on how well you do it.

A long rest or a change of scene will have no lasting effect if you must return to the same frustrations. But a rest or a trip may help you to bring your everyday problems into sharper focus and to work out your own path of recovery.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The strategy forces of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater are beginning to push hard to achieve new momentum which might carry him to first-ballot nomination at San Francisco in July.

Fresh signs of forward motion are needed to offset an expected defeat in the May 15 Oregon primary, recent low scores in national polls, the comparatively modest 512,000-vote total in the Illinois primary.

SPOT CHECKS around the nation indicate that the senator's efforts to force the pace may bear important fruit. There are also indications that some of this pressure may generate damaging reactions.

Tennessee is a key item in the new drive. Goldwater men are putting every ounce of steam into a heightened bid for all 28 delegates. With the senator's "sell TVA" statement rankling in many politicians' bosoms, the outlook for months has been 18 at the most.

District conventions in Tennessee have been yielding just about the expected results. But Goldwater's strategists are now pressing for a dramatic commitment at the May 2 state convention which would largely wrap up the whole bundle.

Sources in Tennessee report a "swing back to Barry," which suggests a better-than-even chance this strategy may work.

All along, independent appraisers have conjectured that Goldwater would fall about 30 votes short of capturing the 11-state South's convention total of 279. If Goldwater can successfully force the issue in Tennessee May 2, he can close one third of that small but significant gap.

EARLY REPORTS from city and county conventions indicate similar pressures may be at work in Virginia, where another sizable Goldwater loss has been in prospect. The state's 30 delegates will be named in a convention June 13.

But the new head of steam is being felt well beyond the South. Tension has been high in recent delegate battles in Kansas and Iowa as Goldwater leaders turned their levers for maximum effect.

After the dust settled in Kansas, Goldwater appeared to have gained a fighting chance to win a bare majority of the state's 20 delegates, whereas earlier it seemed he might fall as low as eight. Yet the outcome still has to be regarded as somewhat fuzzy.

The Goldwater vs. anti-Goldwater fight in Kansas, curiously entangled with purely state issues and personalities, stirred bitter resentments.

The delegate-choosing preliminaries in Iowa, with 24 votes at stake, were even more painful. Angry Goldwater backers in some sectors threatened non-co-operation with the party organization. Moderates were annoyed when William Knowland, Goldwater's California chief, came into Iowa exhorting all to "get on the bandwagon."

THE NET OF ALL THIS is that Goldwater, despite reverses and erosions, is keeping his actual and potential convention delegate total somewhere above 500 out of the 655 needed to nominate. This leaves out of account many "leaners" who could be his if the game clearly is going his way.

The goal of the new hard-push strategy, obviously, is to boost the Goldwater potential enough so that a confidently hoped-for victory over New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in the 86-vote California primary would put the senator on the edge of triumph and thus attract all the leaners—and more.

But the present maneuvering is not without its price. Hostile reactions have already been noted. In some quarters the strategy is viewed as evidence of real fear in the Goldwater camp. More than a few state leaders say they think substantial parts of the senator's delegate potential are at the breakaway point. They consider his totals deceptive.

Realists nevertheless argue that the big numbers are still with Barry. And if the new pressures can add materially to them, he could conceivably go over the top a month before convention time. Yet the test of the stepped-up effort still lies ahead.

Economic Observers Can't See Eye to Eye With LBJ

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Most people, upon reading in their newspapers on Wednesday of this week a speech by President Johnson telling of the large profits of business and promising further tax cuts, must have gained the impression that everything is all right in the national economy. They probably would be surprised to learn that many observers who have given close attention to economic factors are fearful of the future and believe that the finances of the Federal Government today are in one of the most dangerous positions they have been in during any peacetime year in our history.

When the President made his speech at a dinner of business and financial leaders at the White House, he told only one part of the story. He emphasized that profits in business have risen from $21.8 billion in 1961 to $27.1 billion in 1963, and are expected to reach $31 billion in 1964. He didn't tell his audience, however, that the profits of corporations in 1961 were at a very low rate. They are estimated at 6.1 per cent of the national income for 1964, whereas in 1950 they had reached 9.4 per cent. This indicates clearly that, while the national income has grown, the rate of profit has actually declined.

One reason for this, of course, is that wage costs have gone up from 65 per cent of the national income in 1947 to an estimated 71.1 per cent in 1964. Even in relation to the total volume of sales, profits are also down. Thus, earnings after taxes were 6.5 pre cent of sales in 1947-49, and are now estimated for 1964 at 5 per cent.

Future of Dollar?

But most important of all is the impact of unsound fiscal policy on the future value of the dollar. Thus, in his speech, the President said:

"It is too early to make firm promises on further tax cuts, but if this one is a success — as I have every reason to believe it will be — in building production, creating jobs, raising profits, and generating revenues to balance the budget, then I see another tax cut a few years down the road."

But this has not been the experience with previous tax cuts. The gains have been temporary, and the real measure of progress is whether the purchasing power of the dollar declines or rises. The monetary unit has been going down steadily for the last several years.

Debt Keeps Rising

Nowhere in President Johnson's speech was there a single reference to the enormous debt of the Federal Government. It is around $310 billion—the largest in history. Although it has been 11 years since the close of the Korean War and 19 years since the end of World War II, there has been no reduction of the national debt. It has risen constantly.

How long can any government maintain public confidence in its monetary unit if the national debt is not reduced? The argument now is made that the tax cut will soon produce a budget surplus because, as the President puts it, there is an expectation of increases in production and in the number of jobs. But overlooked is the fact that, of the purchasing power of the dollar is steadily cut down, more wage increases are made necessary and, as profits are correspondingly reduced, prices have to be raised. This is what is customarily called an inflationary cycle.

The danger in the present situation is that, if the lending public ever comes to the conclusion that the government of the United States is going to continue to borrow more every year without reducing its debt, there will have to be a substantial increase in interest rates. The lender who foresees a depreciation in the dollar will want the equivalent of higher wages for the loan of his money. When interest rates on government borrowings go upward, the interest rates in the commercial world are, of course, pushed higher, too. This adds to business costs and tends to reduce the rate of profit.

Business May Be Helpless

Sooner or later, the high interest rates produce a setback in the economy. This was a key factor in the 1929 crash and what ensued thereafter. The President hinted in his speech that he hopes the federal reserve system will keep interest rates down, and he warns business to hold its prices down. FIFTH WARD MEETING—Republican senatorial hopeful, Lloyd A. Newcombe of Catskill, preparing for a June 2 primary contest with the incumbent from the 34th District, Sen. E. Ogden Bush of DeLancey, meets with a group of workers at the Kingston home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Perry, 54 Abruyn Street. It was at this week's event that Newcombe named Perry, former alderman of the Fifth Ward, and Republican committeeman there, as co-chairman of his campaign in the city. "I expect to lean heavily on Mr. Perry for advice in the present fight," Newcombe said. Believes Fatal Blaze Started From Flat Iron

BOONVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A fire official, seeking the cause of a fire that took the lives of two children, says it appears that flames broke out when an electric flat iron was left on inadvertently.

Jeffrey Clark, 4, and Karen Clark, 3, were suffocated Thursday in their home from which their father, William Clark, about 40, rescued a one-year-old baby.

Seven other children of the family, five boys and two girls ranging in age from 6 to 15, were in school when the fire started, apparently in the kitchen of the 2½-story frame dwelling in this Oneida County community. The mother was reported visiting in New York City at the time.

Flames prevented Clark from reaching the upstairs bedroom in which Jeffrey and Karen perished.

The house was badly damaged.

YMCA Schedules Ambitious Spring, Summer Program

The Kingston YMCA has scheduled an interesting program for the spring and summer for boys, girls, men and women. All activities will be conducted in the Y building or at the YMCA Day Camp in Shokan, by Louis H. Schafer, executive secretary.

The boys' program will be centered around athletics, baseball and soccer at the Athletic Field, on Smith Avenue. The big Saturday schedule will be in the form of leagues. The third and fourth grade known as Preps will assemble at 9:15 Saturday and play until 10:30 at which time they come to the building for their swim. The fifth, sixth and seventh grades, knowns as the Cadets, will start their league games at 10:30 until 11:45 at which time they will go to the Y for their swim. The boys will have afternoon classes at the Y, according to their own age group. The gym work will be in the form of physical fitness work on apparatus, such as the parallels, horse, trampoline and others. Besides body building exercises, this work gives each boy poise and balance that is much needed in getting the boy in condition for the work of tomorrow.

Volley ball Starts

Young men who competed throughout the winter in basketball are now starting volleyball Wednesday nights at 7:15. This is a new activity for this group and many are interested. The Health Club physical fitness calisthenic class is still functioning every Monday and Thursday night at 7:30. This class is followed by either volleyball or paddleball. The steam bath is open from 4 to 8 p. m. every day except Friday. Following steam, many of the men take a plunge in the swimming pool.

The senior and junior life saving class meets every Monday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5 p. m. with 36 high school boys and girls taking part. All swimmers take 15 hours of instructions before taking the final examinations scheduled the last week in May.

Those who qualify will become certified members of the American Red Cross and YMCA Aquatic Life Saving Service. Leon I. VanHeusen is the instructor and he is assisted by John Quick, Jan Lloyd VanHeusen and Joseph Kearney, all of whom have passed their life saving and are putting in time teaching so that they might become certified life saving instructors.

The boys and girls Hi-Y clubs that meet Wednesday nights throughout the school year are now selling peppermint candy for the benefit of the YMCA World Service Program. The youth director also is directing a camp counselor training course every Tuesday preparing high school boys and girls to become camp counselors at the Y camp or other camps in the area.

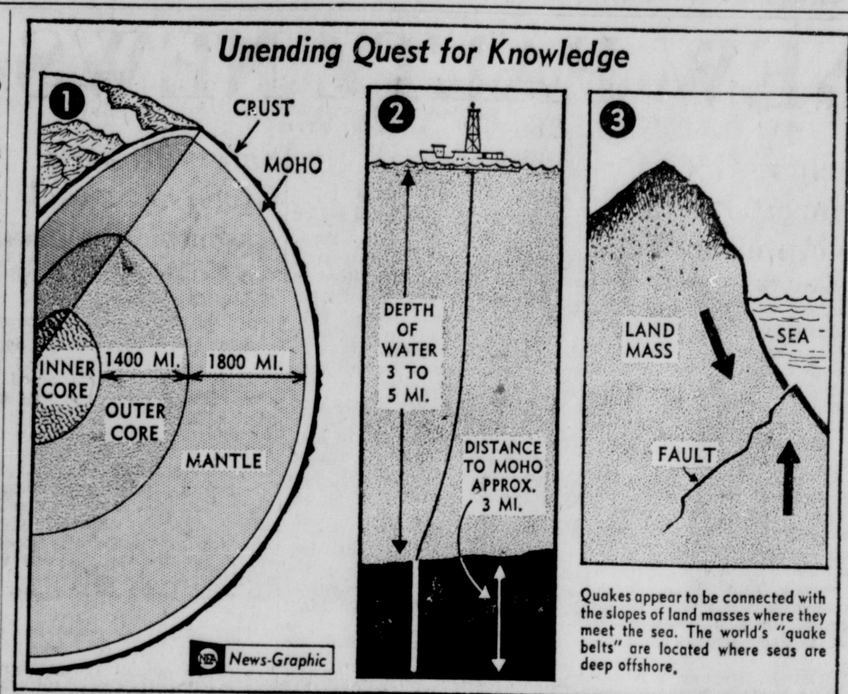
Father, Son Banquet

The Fathers and Sons banquet will take place Tuesday, May 5 at 6:30 p. m. in the Y youth center. The guest speaker will be Major Edgar Raynis, assistant post chaplain. His subject will be pet snakes. He will have a small display of snakes at the banquet. Boy members and their dads who have not registered should send in their registrations immediately. The YMCA bowling season is coming to a close and a banquet will be held at the SRS in Cottekill. The women are invited and all trophies will be presented to the top bowlers.

The ladies swimming program will start Wednesday, June 10, and continue until Labor Day. Ladies who cannot swim will be given instructions Wednesday nights and all others will have recreation swimming and instructions in strokes and diving Friday nights. Information concerning these classes may be obtained by phoning the Y. The Girls summer swimming program for girls 7 to 14 years of age will start June 24 and continue with classes every Wednesday and Friday through July and August. There also is a special boy's summer program schedule for Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday throughout the summer. Three special bus trips are being planned as follows: The Yankee Stadium, the Mets at Shea Stadium, a trip to the World's Fair.

Information may be obtained by calling the office or at 507 Broadway.

Unending Quest for Knowledge



Quakes appear to be connected with the slopes of land masses where they meet the sea. The world's "quake belts" are located where seas are deep offshore.

When the earth shudders, as it happened in Alaska, it spurs humans once again to the search for the secrets of nature. Earthquakes themselves are of use in the search. Much of the knowledge of the make-up of the earth's interior (1) came from the measurement of these shocks and their "echoes." Most stimulating recent attempt to get to grips with the actual properties of the earth is Project Mohole (2). Because the earth's outer crust is thinnest under the sea, scientists hope to overcome great difficulties and drill down to what could be the outer surface of the primordial earth. What they bring up would verify many of their theories. Already, we know a good deal about quakes. The imbalance of weight along some seacoasts, with pressure forces in two directions (3) seems to be a factor in one type. There are also quakes caused by movement of volcanic lava under the earth or during eruptions and other disturbances, still mysterious, as deep as 100 miles or more below the surface.

Believes Fatal Blaze Started From Flat Iron

BOONVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A fire official, seeking the cause of a fire that took the lives of two children, says it appears that flames broke out when an electric flat iron was left on inadvertently.

Jeffrey Clark, 4, and Karen Clark, 3, were suffocated Thursday in their home from which their father, William Clark, about 40, rescued a one-year-old baby.

Seven other children of the family, five boys and two girls ranging in age from 6 to 15, were in school when the fire started, apparently in the kitchen of the 2½-story frame dwelling in this Oneida County community. The mother was reported visiting in New York City at the time.

Flames prevented Clark from reaching the upstairs bedroom in which Jeffrey and Karen perished.

The house was badly damaged.

The tavern is operated by Louis Stortini. Firemen were at the scene more than an hour. The alarm was sounded at 4:10 a. m. after the fire was discovered by Patrolman Jack Cooper.

YMCA Schedules Ambitious Spring, Summer Program

The Kingston YMCA has scheduled an interesting program for the spring and summer for boys, girls, men and women. All activities will be conducted in the Y building or at the YMCA Day Camp in Shokan, by Louis H. Schafer, executive secretary.

The boys' program will be centered around athletics, baseball and soccer at the Athletic Field, on Smith Avenue. The big Saturday schedule will be in the form of leagues. The third and fourth grade known as Preps will assemble at 9:15 Saturday and play until 10:30 at which time they come to the building for their swim. The fifth, sixth and seventh grades, knowns as the Cadets, will start their league games at 10:30 until 11:45 at which time they will go to the Y for their swim. The boys will have afternoon classes at the Y, according to their own age group. The gym work will be in the form of physical fitness work on apparatus, such as the parallels, horse, trampoline and others. Besides body building exercises, this work gives each boy poise and balance that is much needed in getting the boy in condition for the work of tomorrow.

Volley ball Starts

Young men who competed throughout the winter in baskeball are now starting volleyball Wednesday nights at 7:15. This is a new activity for this group and many are interested. The Health Club physical fitness calisthenic class is still functioning every Monday and Thursday night at 7:30. This class is followed by either volleyball or paddleball. The steam bath is open from 4 to 8 p. m. every day except Friday. Following steam, many of the men take a plunge in the swimming pool.

The senior and junior life saving class meets every Monday and Thursday from 3:30 to 5 p. m. with 36 high school boys and girls taking part. All swimmers take 15 hours of instructions before taking the final examinations scheduled the last week in May.

Those who qualify will become certified members of the American Red Cross and YMCA Aquatic Life Saving Service. Leon I. VanHeusen is the instructor and he is assisted by John Quick, Jan Lloyd VanHeusen and Joseph Kearney, all of whom have passed their life saving and are putting in time teaching so that they might become certified life saving instructors.

The boys and girls Hi-Y clubs that meet Wednesday nights throughout the school year are now selling peppermint candy for the benefit of the YMCA World Service Program. The youth director also is directing a camp counselor training course every Tuesday preparing high school boys and girls to become camp counselors at the Y camp or other camps in the area.

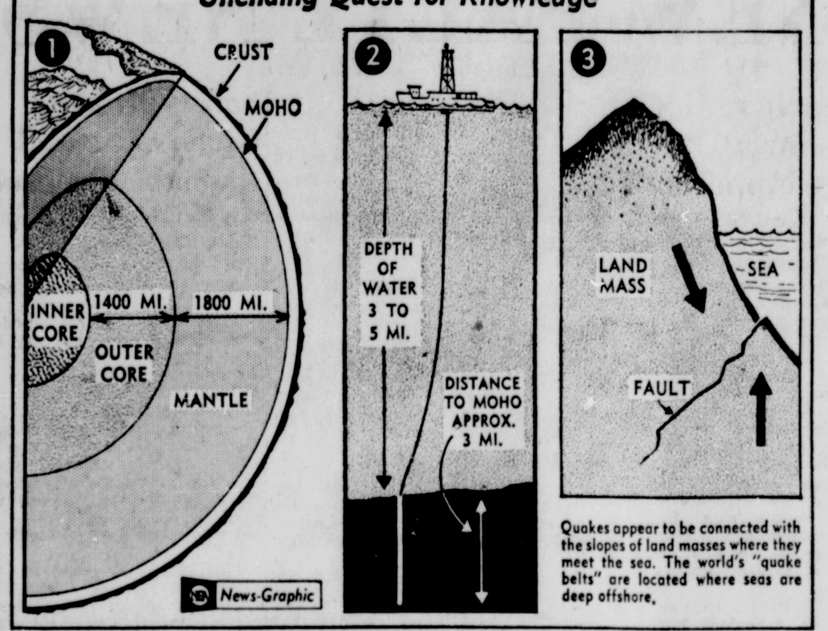
Father, Son Banquet

The Fathers and Sons banquet will take place Tuesday, May 5 at 6:30 p. m. in the Y youth center. The guest speaker will be Major Edgar Raynis, assistant post chaplain. His subject will be pet snakes. He will have a small display of snakes at the banquet. Boy members and their dads who have not registered should send in their registrations immediately. The YMCA bowling season is coming to a close and a banquet will be held at the SRS in Cottekill. The women are invited and all trophies will be presented to the top bowlers.

The ladies swimming program will start Wednesday, June 10, and continue until Labor Day. Ladies who cannot swim will be given instructions Wednesday nights and all others will have recreation swimming and instructions in strokes and diving Friday nights. Information concerning these classes may be obtained by phoning the Y. The Girls summer swimming program for girls 7 to 14 years of age will start June 24 and continue with classes every Wednesday and Friday through July and August. There also is a special boy's summer program scnedule for Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday throughout the summer. Three special bus trips are being planned as follows: The Yankee Stadium, the Mets at Shea Stadium, a trip to the World's Fair.

Information may be obtained by calling the office or at 507 Broadway.

Unending Quest for Knowledge



Quakes appear to be connected with the slopes of land masses where they meet the sea. The world's "quake belts" are located where seas are deep offshore.

When the earth shudders, as it happened in Alaska, it spurs humans once again to the search for the secrets of nature. Earthquakes themselves are of use in the search. Much of the knowledge of the make-up of the earth's interior (1) came from the measurement of these shocks and their "echoes." Most stimulating recent attempt to get to grips with the actual properties of the earth is Project Mohole (2). Because the earth's outer crust is thinnest under the sea, scientists hope to overcome great difficulties and drill down to what could be the outer surface of the primordial earth. What they bring up would verify many of their theories. Already, we know a good deal about quakes. The imbalance of weight along some seacoasts, with pressure forces in two directions (3) seems to be a factor in one type. There are also quakes caused by movement of volcanic lava under the earth or during eruptions and other disturbances, still mysterious, as deep as 100 miles or more below the surface.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION—Space man or not, persons just don't go around walking on walls or do they? They seem to at Langley Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, in Hampton, Va. Studies are being conducted there to determine problems that men will face when they walk on the moon, where the force of gravity is only one-sixth of that on earth. The contraption used in these studies is a system of slings which support the subject at the proper angle to the vertical so that gravity force is precisely controlled. (In the case of the moon gravity, the angle is 80.5 degrees.) It is something like tilting up a bed so that there is some weight on the patient's legs. But the slings allow the subject to walk and jump and do various other tasks under conditions found on the moon. An overhead trolley moves with the space man. A Church to Honor Churchill . . .

FROM LONDON TO FULTON—A drive is on to raise $1.5 million to move a historic, 296-year-old church from England to Missouri as a memorial to Sir Winston Churchill. The church, St. Mary Aldermanbury's (left), was designed in 1667 by Sir Christopher Wren and bombed out by a German air raid in 1941. It will be moved stone by stone to the Westminster College campus in Fulton. It was at Westminster in 1946 that Sir Winston coined the phrase, "Iron Curtain." NEW YORK (AP)—The automobile industry is dreaming of an eight-million car year in 1964.

Thinking in Detroit is that this dream might turn to reality.

Ahead of '63 Pace

This optimism is based on the booming sales pace that is running ahead of last year, when 7.7 million cars were sold in the United States.

Unless there should be a long strike this summer, it is virtually assured that the industry will ring up its third successive seven-million-plus year in 1964. That has never been done before. In the past, sales have fluctuated from one year to another.

One of the most optimistic statements to come out of Detroit is from George Russell, executive vice president of General Motors Corp.

"Based on the sales performance in the model year to date, and assuming that general business continues to be favorable, there is every reason to expect industry sales of some eight million 1964 passenger cars, including imports, and about 1.4 million trucks," Russell said.

Through last week the domestic industry had turned out 2,790,856 cars this year, a gain of 8.8 per cent over the 2,565,072 assembled in the like period a year ago.

Expectations were that April production would be the greatest in history for the month. Output was estimated at 785,000 units, up 13 per cent from the 691,079 cars built in April 1963.

Nine of Ford's 16 assembly plants were on overtime.

This heavy production pace may be at least partly due to apprehension that a crippling strike could develop when labor contracts expire this summer but none of the motor companies has said so.

Impresario Out To Help Talent In Film Colony

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOOD (AP)—"This is the cruelest town in the world of talent. Hollywood's full of talented people, but hardly anyone will give them a chance to show what they can do."

Harsh Experience

Sidney Linden spoke from harsh experience. Thirty years ago he was a baritone with rare promise. A staff singer for CBS, his radio program followed that of a pop crooner. The difference between them was more than singing style; Linden earned $15 vs. Bing Crosby's $500.

The young baritone studied with great teachers who predicted a brilliant career. But success as a singer eluded him. Instead, he became a pen-making millionaire, and now is impresario of a concert hall designed to expose talent whom heartless Hollywood overlooks.

Linden is president of the Lindy Pen Co., which he started as a one-man operation 19 years ago and which now enjoys a $12 million yearly volume.

The pen business and his other enterprises occupy only a part of his day. During most of every afternoon and evening he can be found at the Lindy Opera House, a onetime film theater at Wilshire and Labrea which he converted to a musical showcase for $160,000.

Great Pleasure

The opera house produces a healthy deficit, which bothers him not awhit.

One of his greatest pleasures is the holding of auditions for new talent to be presented at the opera house. In this regard he stressed "new" and not necessarily "young."

Said he: "Most auditions place all the emphasis on young talent, and I think that is unfortunate. Producers think that anyone past the age of 34 is not suitable for singing jobs. But there are many singers in their late 30s and 40s who have magnificent voices and deserve a chance to be heard."

NEW YORK (AP) — Kim Stanley and Geraldine Page are set to appear in the Actors Studio revival of Chekhov's "The Three Sisters."

Here's a Squeeze Criss-Cross Style

By OSWALD JACOBY

Here is a hand that probably knocked most of the players in the Intercollegiate Tournament right out of the box.

Both vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	4 ♦	4 N.T.	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♦ A

South's opening bid of one heart is easy enough. West is supposed to jump to five diamonds, but if he merely jumps to four diamonds, he gets his par provided he does not bid more diamonds later.

A jump to five diamonds will embarrass North, but he should try a six heart bid. Over four diamonds he might bid four no-trump and then go to six hearts.

In either case, South is supposed to wind up playing six hearts and West is instructed to lead the ace of diamonds and to continue with the queen.

This doesn't worry declarer. He ruffs in dummy, but it should worry East. East can't discard a club. That will establish dummy's nine spot. East can't discard a spade. That will allow declarer to set up dummy's fifth spade. In other words, East can't discard, but the rules require that he play to the trick and the only winning play is a discard of a small trump.

Later on he will play in back of dummy and simply discard spades or clubs after dummy.

If he does this, South will have to go down one trick. That is provided that West never lets a little club go. If West lets a club go, South can make the hand. The play is what is known as a criss-cross squeeze which I leave to you readers to work out.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A juicy sirloin or a family-sized roast beef may prove to be a bargain this week as well as a treat.

Protein foods, particularly red meat and eggs, continue to share the spotlight at many supermarket counters. Increasingly abundant supplies of fresh fruit and vegetables play a colorful supporting roie.

One national supermarket chain is offering sirloin at 85 cents a pound at its New York City area outlets, down 10 cents a pound from last week. Oven-ready rib roast has been marked down to 63 cents a pound at the same markets, a 16-cent reduction from the weeek before.

Poultry buyers should find both turkeys and chicken plentiful this weekend.

As for weekend specials, a government survey of 30 stores indicated that thrifty shoppers can cut their food bill perhaps by 6 per cent by taking advantage of them.

If you're in the mood for a spring fruit salad, look for bananas and strawberries as possible good fruit buys.

At the producer counter, cabbage, carrots, celery, lettuce, plentiful almost everywhere.

Dear Abby . . .

It's in the Past!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when you finally find out that what you had suspected deep down in your heart was true? My sister-in-law telephoned the other day to inform me that my husband had an affair about a year ago with a supposedly good friend of mine. She said she and her husband had known about it all along. Suddenly, a lot of things began to fit into place, such as canceled checks made out to strange places, and several unexplained late evenings. Each time I confront my husband with the accusation, he denies it. I would gladly give him the benefit of the doubt, but there is no doubt. I can't raise four children alone. Do I just forgive and forget?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: Yes. Obviously your husband wants to forget, too, but when you try to sweat a confession out of him, he can't Forgive. Truly forgive. Only then will you be able to forget.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in our mid-40's. We are neat dressers, and everyone compliments us on how "young" we look. Whenever we go out, my husband spots a "friend" at another table, and up he jumps, leaving me to set alone anywhere from 15 minutes to half an hour. When I complain he gets mad and says he likes to talk to his friends. What's bugging him anyway? This has been going on for years.

LEFT SITTING

DEAR LEFT: If your table-hopping husband is running for office, grin and bear it. But if he's just a friendly-type guy who likes to talk to his "friends," tell him that you are his best friend and you didn't go out to sit alone.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 12 and my brother was 10, our father died. Our mother married again, and she stayed married to this man until she died. At the time of her death neither my brother nor I could afford to buy her a headstone. Now we have the money and want to buy her one, but here is the problem: We want our mother's FIRST HUSBAND'S name on the headstone instead of her second husband's. After she died, we never saw our stepfather again. Our family did not care especially for my mother's first husband (our real father), or her second husband, so they want us to put her MAIDEN name on the headstone. Since my brother and I are paying for it, we think we should be able to put what we want on it. What is your opinion?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: It will be YOUR headstone over YOUR mother's grave. Put on it what you will.

St. John Insurers Topic of Article On Perpetuation

A local insurance company, which for many years was operated by the late Howard R. St. John, is the subject of an article in the March-April issue of the Indiana Lumbermens Mutual Insurance Company periodical The Crest.

Agency Perpetuation—How? is the title to the article which deals with the subject "Can an agency built by one man's hard work be perpetuated and continue to prosper after his death?"

Concrete Proof

The article reports that for the past eight years, the record of Howard R. St. John, Inc. of Kingston, N. Y., has been concrete proof that it can be done."

Pointing out that "when control of the agency passed from Howard R. St. John to his widow and son, Jack, they decided to retain ownership of the agency and find a capable agency manager. Jack St. John, a successful attorney and former district attorney, set up the necessary systems and contracts to give the new management the authority and financial incentive to do a proper job."

The article continues, "Sam Pepper, a young man with six years sales and insurance experience plus lots of workable ideas, was employed as manager. Bill Murray was retained in his position as 'inside man.' Three very valuable Girls-Friday, Barbara Steiner, Dorothy Duncan, and Cordelia Feltman, completed the agency's staff Later Bud Elmendorf was added to the staff to sell and service."

A complete physical remodeling, updated office equipment, a new accounting system and new internal controls were installed by Pepper. The article states that through the efforts of the three men the firm was able to hold the agency's present business, increase premiums by 50 per cent and pursue a steady weeding process on slow-pay and questionable accounts.

'Job Well Done'

"When these results were presented to Laurence J. Ackerman, the famous authority on agency management, his opinion was, 'A job well done' ".

In addition to their hard work in the agency, the article points out that Pepper is a past president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, trustee of the Kingston School Board and Mutual Agents Association director. Murray is a Kiwanian and director of the Kiwanis Kapers while Bud Elmendorf serves as a fire commissioner.

In conclusion the article reports "after eight years the agency is prospering and repaying Mrs. St. John's faith, that the agency could be perpetuated. In fact, the agency has increased 50 per cent in value, and she is deriving an income well above any return she could have received by selling the agency and investing the proceeds. An agency can be perpetuated and Howard St. John, Inc., is proof."

SHOKAN NEWS

SHOKAN—Mrs. Paul Barker, Saugerties, called on friends in the village center Wednesday.

Also in town was Clayton Cooke, Avon, Conn.

William Jackson, local Korean War veteran who preceded Garfield Cline as manager of the Shokan district telephone office, reportedly has been transferred to Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Rossman and family were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Rossman, Andes, Delaware County.

There was the usual heavy weekend influx of motorists going down Route 213 to view the awesome spectacle of Ashokan water pouring over the East Basin spillway and down the rocky gorge before debouching into Esopus Creek below the Main Dam. A big crowd of fishermen jammed the escarpment of the dividing weir pool where several unusually large rainbow trout and wall-eyed pike were landed last week.

Sarah Hyser, Ashokan, and Louise Boice, Saugerties, were recent guests at the J. O'Brien home in Mitchell Hollow.

Jerry Wemple, local teacher, reportedly is having a house built on the corner of Mountain Road and the road leading up to the Ben Swanson development.

Charles Cooper, Woodstock, was a weekend caller at the local free museum.

Robert Robeson, Boiceville Road, has employment in Kingston.

Notes of By-Gone Days: April 25, 1874 was "just one of those days." Snow fell to a depth of five inches in old Shokan. It snowed again April 28 and on the 29 more of the same came down, while the 30th brought still more snow and the wind blew a gale which drifted the roads to a depth of three feet and more. April 24, 1881, the Reformed Sunday school re-elected Dewitt C. Davis, local surveyor, as superintendent. Davis throughout his long and useful life was deeply interested in Sunday school work and both he and his wife were noted for their zeal and faithfulness in all church activities.

A real estate transfer of April 25, 1893, was that of a parcel of land on the main street from Ulysses G. Boice and wife to Dr. George VanGaasbeck. The lot adjoined the home property of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert R. Matthews, parents of Mrs. Boice. Dr. VanGaasbeck remained here for a number of years before moving to Kingston. April 25, 1902, the family of R. J. Peterson of New York City moved in the old VanVleck stone house along the Boiceville hill road. Jere VanVliet and family had been living in the house which was one of the first to be erected in these parts. Later, during Ashokan Reservoir construction years, the place was used as a summer home by Waldo J. mith, chief engineer of the Board of Water Supply.

English history records a mass rebellion against the delays and tolls of turnpike travel. In 1842-3, groups of men, dressed in women's nightgowns and known as Rebecca's Sisters, smashed gates and levelled tollhouses. Juries refused to convict any rioters caught, and eventually Parliament bowed to public opinion and created a turnpike commission.

Stratford, Conn., Asks First Sale of Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal that the special postage stamp commemorating William Shakespeare's 400th birthday first be put on sale in Stratford, Conn., was made today by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

In a letter to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, Dodd said the anniversary also marks the 10th year of Stratford's American Shakespeare Festival.

"Dedicated to offering the works of this great artist to the American public, Stratford is the most fitting location for this tribute," Dodd wrote.

Prisoner Keeps Word, Down Outside Fence

DETROIT (AP) — A guard fired a warning shot Wednesday as prisoner Joseph Van Dorsen reached the barbed-wire top of a fence that surrounds the Detroit House of Correction.

"Stop shooting," the 19-year-old Detroiter shouted, "I'm comming down."

The guard stopped.

Van Dosen came down — on the outside of the fence.

Police are looking for him — to complete the 70-day jail term he got for escaping while serving time for a previous misdemeanor.

Newburgh Nuns Start Building Fund Campaign

The Sisters of the Presentation of Newburgh, have started a building fund program for a minimum goal of $400,000. The purpose of the program is to raise funds for construction of a new chapel and infirmary. Cost of the proposed buildings will be $1,500,000.

In announcing the drive, Reverend Mother Mary Agnes said that the building was necessary because the large increase in the community made the chapel totally inadequate and at this time there is no infirmary to care for the sick and aged Sisters.

In advance of the general phase of the campaign, a memorial committee has already realized a total of $180,000. At this time volunteer workers are calling on friends of the Sisters in New York, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Yonkers. Other committees have been formed in Newburgh, Kingston and Goshen to cover the up-state areas.

The proposed building, designed by Brother Cajetan J. B. Baumann, OFM, will seat approximately four hundred persons, with provision for a future balcony to accommodate any forseeable expansion. The infirmary with seven bedrooms is on the same level as the chapel and offers private access to the infirmary oratory. The chaplain's quarters is adjacent to the sanctuary.

Beneath the chapel are large meeting rooms and parlors. The public has access to these areas from an entrance at this level. Beneath the infirmary will be a storage area which will be the future refectory.

James J. Cunningham, business executive, Manhasset, L. I., is general chairman of the drive.

Carlino Says N. Y. Delegates Must Be United Unit

HARTSDALE, N.Y. (AP)—Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino said Wednesday night that New York State del ates to the Republican national convention "must go as a united organization."

Carlino addressed about 400 members of the Hartsdale Men's Republican Club at a dinner.

In his speech, Carlino did not mention by name Gov. Rockefeller, a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Later, however, he told a newsman that New York State Republicans should support Rockefeller at the convention, adding that the governor has done an "outstandin job" in state administration.

Vase 400 to 600 Years Old Found On Rogers Island

FORT EDWARD, N.Y. (AP) —An amateur archaeologist has found an Oriental vase estimated to be four to six centuries old on Rogers Island in the Hudson River where it may have been brought by a British soldier during the Revolutionary War.

Earl E. Stott of Hudson Falls, coordinator of Rogers Island Historical Development, said Wednesday that the age of the vase had been estimated by state and private archaeologists.

The vase, seven inches tall, is inscribed, in Chinese, "Enduring as the Windy Mountain." It bears an abstract design believed to depict the three Wise Men, Mary and the Christ Child.

Stott says he spotted the vase near a tree that had been uprooted by a bulldozer during a land-clearing project.

The vessel may have been a Roman Catholic altar piece brought to the island by one of the 15,000 British troops stationed there about 1758. The island once housed the biggest British garrison in North America and was a staging area for the attack on Quebec.

Suicide Is Verdict

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled Wednesday that Benjamin Sanford Carlton, 49, a Negro candidate for the Irdell County Board of Commissioners, died April 23 of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Witnesses told the all-Negro jury that Carlton had been depressed because of financial difficulties.

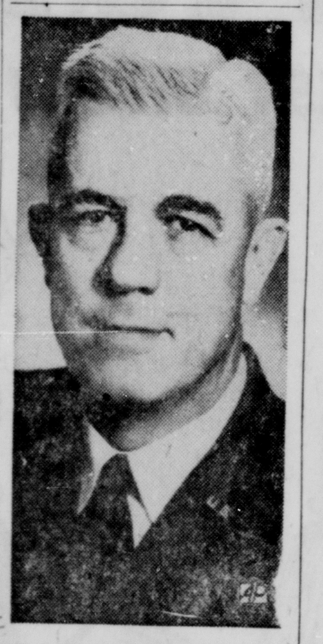
Reds Ready for May Day

MOSCOW (AP)—Red streamers decorated Moscow today in preparation for May Day, the big Communist celebration that stems from a strike in Chicago.

Soviet tanks and rockets will rumble through Red Square Friday while Premier Khrushchev and visiting Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella watch from atop Lenin's tomb.

It will be the anniversary of a strike in 1886 that led to bloodshed in the streets of Chicago. Beginning in France in 1889, May Day has been celebrated by Socialists and Communists around the world as the day of workers' solidarity.

Popular name for Candlemas Day is Groundhog Day, Feb. 2.



TO DUAL POST — Lt. Gen. Albert Watson II has been named the high commissioner of the Ryukyu Islands and the commanding general of the 9th Army Corps, effective August 1.

GOP Will Stress Youth and Vigor At Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans plan to put youth and vigor on display for the television audiences who watch their national presidential nominating convention in San Francisco.

While they are thus pepping up the party image, leaders hope to avoid intraparty controversy by selecting a slate of spotlight performers satisfactory to all factions.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, former GOP national chairman under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has been selected as permanent chairman to wield the gavel during the convention.

Morton, 56, tall, handsome and a polished performer on the platform, is the oldest of the three star performers.

The others expected to be selected by the Republican National Arrangements Committee at its meeting here late in May include Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon as temporary chairman and State Chairman Robert A. Forsythe of Minnesota as convention keynoter. Hatfield is 41 and Forsythe 42.

The choice of Morton as permanent chairman broke a deadlock in which congressional members generally were backing House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana for the job while GOP governors were plugging Hatfield.

Morton, an Eisenhower moderate from a border state, has the backing of conservatives booming Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the party's presidential nomination.

Goldwater Raps Johnson on Wars, Viet and Poverty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, in a hurried campaign stopover before flying to Washington, D.C., says he feels the United States is truly at war—both in South Viet Nam and against poverty. And, he adds, he doesn't like the Johnson administration's handling of either battle.

The Arizona Republican said Wednesday the United States faces "slow defeat" in Southeast Asia unless a more aggressive strategy is employed, leading to the cutting off of Communist supplies and the destruction of rice and opium crops in North Viet Nam.

As for the President's war on poverty, Goldwater called it a "Santa Claus of the government handout."

Goldwater, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, wound up his one - day Southern California campaign in Los Angeles County with a Republican rally in San Fernando Valley Wednesday night.

Goldwater said his tougher strategy in Viet Nam would not involve bombing Vietnamese, or Vietnamese cities.

"It could mean messing up some roads, hitting some depots, and stopping some shipping," Goldwater added. "This means threatening or actually interdicting the supply routes from Red China, Laos, and Cambodia."

Goldwater said North Viet Nam rice crops could be destroyed, as well as the opium crop "upon which North Viet Nam bases a good part of its foreign exchange."

He did not say whether he recommended the use of U.S. forces in this action.

44 Settle Out of Court In GE Antitrust Suits

A litigation group of 44 electric utility companies, generally referred to as the Atlantic City Group, representing approximately 16 per cent of the nation's investor-owned utilities, has settled out of court its antitrust damage suits against General Electric Company for an aggregate settlement amount of $26,500,000. The settlement, which is the culmination of long negotiations, was announced today by Lelan F. Sillin Jr., President of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation in his capacity as chairman of the executive steering committee of the group.

1960 Charges

These suits arose out of the 1960 charges of antitrust conspiracies and were based on claims that the 44 utilities had been overcharged for electrical equipment.

Sillin said that, although discussions are in progress with other suppliers involved in these actions, settlements have not yet been reached with any of them.

The actions are pending in the Southeran District of New York and an application will be made to the Court for dismissal of the actions against General Electric.

The 44 plaintiff companies, located in the East and Middle West, are:

Collection Safe

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP)—Marvin Jones, co-owner of a Buffalo bar, has a valuable collection of silver dollars — a complete set of every cartwheel minted, except for an 1895 dollar. He values it at more than $5,000. Jones kept the collection in the safe at his bar, but the recent publicity over the silver dollar shortage prompted him to take his collection home for examination one weekend. A couple nights later, burglars broke into the tavern, wheeled away the safe and fled with $400 in cash and $400 to $500 in checks. Jones' silver dollar collection was safe at home.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The history of Charles de Gaulle since the fall of France at the outset of World War II, said CBS correspondent Charles Collingwood Wednesday night, is "all mixed up in the history of modern France."

Thus "CBS Reports' " first of two hour-long programs dedicated to an examination of the life and character of the president of France spent almost as much time on the nation's recent history as it did on the man. There just was not much time left in which to dig very deep.

Too much ground had to be covered — a world war in which De Gaulle, now 73, led the Free French forces, his return to head the government, political bickering and early retirement only to return to government in another great emergency.

The hour had too much backgrounding and rehashing of well-known events for even the casual student of foreign affairs, and too skimpy a fill-in for those who had forgotten if they ever knew, of De Gaulle's long and stormy career as savior of France.

Still, it was a brave attempt to reduce to a few minutes subjects about which shelves of books have been and are being written. And it may help Americans to understand better what Collingwood described as "the aloof imperious, monarchical figure forever in a storm of controversy but whose passionate love of country has never been questioned."

Ed Sullivan isn't the only importer of offbeat English quartets. Red Skelton will have "The Snobs" on his Tuesday night CBS show — four 17-year-olds who stomp and harmonize attired in 17th century clothes, including powdered wigs.

Recommended tonight: "That Was The Week That Was," NBC, 9:30-10 (Eastern Standard Time) — topical revue with caustic treatment of the week's headlines.

Desire for Trade Dollars Sign Cold War Diminishes

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the healthiest recent signs that the cold war has diminished a bit is the dollar sign.

Businessmen here and elsewhere show a developing desire for a buck, even if it means trading with Communists.

It showed up Wednesday at the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, one of the most non-pro-Communist organizations in the country.

About 90 per cent of the businessmen there voted for increased trade in nonstrategic goods with Russia and her European satellites.

Some even wanted trade with three countries totally embargoed by this government: Red China, North Korea, North Viet Nam. There was no vote on this.

Why this surge, and it has been growing, to trade with the Communist world? Speakers explained in dollars and cents:

If American businessmen are prevented from selling to the Reds, the trade will go to businessmen in other Western countries which have fewer restrictions.

British Twist

The British, just as anxious for the money, give their motivation a little more philosophical twist:

"A fat Communist is a little less belligerent than a lean one."

Exports to Communist countries now by Western Europe and Japan are running at about $3 billion a year.

West Germany leads the list—with Britain and France next—but mostly because of exports to Communist East Germany. The United States is at the bottom of the list.

Most of the Allies' trade with the Red nations has been in machinery and other nonstrategic goods.

Wheat Example

But there has long been a feeling in this country that selling anything to Communists simply strengthens communism.

A classic example was the fight in Congress — it finally lost — against selling even wheat to Russia.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk ran head-on into this attitude last month in telling Congress there should be more flexibility in trade with the Reds.

Administrative Line

He takes this line — and it's the Johnson administration line—that the United States should pick and choose between Communists nations on trade.

This is the reasoning: That trade with certain Communist countries may encourage them to show more independence of Moscow.

But he wants a tight boycott—which American allies are ignoring — in dealing with Fidel Castro's Cuba.

For this reason in this case: The tougher the economic squeeze on Castro, the less successful communism in Cuba will be and the more he will have to depend on Moscow which is helping to bail him out at a cost to Russia of about $1 million a day.

Little Puzzling

This reasoning gets a little puzzling, since Rusk wants to make some Red countries less dependent on Moscow but Cuba more so.

But the businessmen at the meeting Wednesday, while wanting more trade with the Reds, voted against giving them long-term credits.

If there are no long-term American credits this in the end may put American businessmen behind the eight ball anyway in dealing with the Communists.

For instance, the British are considering long-term credits. So the Russians, being businessmen, too, will naturally shop where it's to their advantage.

At the same time Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges has said he thinks this country is "moving toward a more normal trade relationship" with Soviet Russia and her European satellites.

So, while there have been arguments among the Allies on such things as credit terms and what to sell, the main point is: The growing desire among businessmen on both sides of the ocean to make money from the Communists.

If long-term credits become the custom, even though they're guaranteed by the individual Western governments to their businessmen, it will be a pretty good sign those same governments don't expect war while the credits last.

Desire for Trade Dollars Sign Cold War Diminishes

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the healthiest recent signs that the cold war has diminished a bit is the dollar sign.

Businessmen here and elsewhere show a developing desire for a buck, even if it means trading with Communists.

It showed up Wednesday at the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, one of the most non-pro-Communist organizations in the country.

About 90 per cent of the businessmen there voted for increased trade in nonstrategic goods with Russia and her European satellites.

Some even wanted trade with three countries totally embargoed by this government: Red China, North Korea, North Viet Nam. There was no vote on this.

Why this surge, and it has been growing, to trade with the Communist world? Speakers explained in dollars and cents:

Participation in the Memorial Day parade was opened to all members of the fire companies, with Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 engaging a band and inviting other members to parade with them. Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 of Lake Hill announced plans to participate with firemen, Ladies Auxiliary members, their Boy Scout Troop 62, and the Brownies sponsored by the Auxiliary.

The four-company fire drill was set for Sunday, May 17, beginning at 10 a. m. The fire chief, assistant chiefs, and captains of the four companies scheduled a meeting for 9:30 p. m. Monday, May 4, to determine procedures and the place of the drill.

The status of the fire police was discussed, particularly in view of the announcement of the new state law relative to the fire policeman. The question of the rights and responsibilities of fire policemen has concerned the Woodstock Fire Department representatives for sometime. Since knowledge of the new law was scarce, it was decided that further discussion would be held in abeyence until a copy of the law was available.

Chief George Haythorne announced the new insurance coverage recently provided by the Board of Fire Commissioners of the Town of Woodstock, which approximately doubles the coverage to Woodstock firemen in case of injuries in the line of duty.

The fire chief also issued reports on recent fires in the township, stating that he was pleased with the action of the firemen.

The next meeting of the four Companies will be held at the firehouse in Zena on Monday, July 27, at 8 p. m.

Byman Concert Is Acclaimed by Young Critic

Isabelle Byman, Woodstock's talented concert pianist, who originally launched the Onteora P-TA Cultural Arts program over two years ago, recently appeared before a recent Junior High assembly at Onteora Central school.

To say that Mrs. Byman's lecture-demonstration was well received by Onteora's youngsters is an understatement. A reviewer would have called upon all the glowing adjectives available. However, Christine Kleine of Shady, an 8th grade student, has said it so well, we quote it in its entirety.

(The students were asked for anonymous comments on the assembly performance and it took a bit of detective work to locate Miss Kleine as the author of this review:

"Isabelle Byman is truly a credit to the world of music. The concert that was given by her was a small example of her love and devotion toward music. While listening to the concert, I think one could sense the feeling that she herself was pouring into a "big wooden obstacle" making it come alive and tell a story.

While listening to the concert, I think one could sense the feeling that she herself was pouring into a "big wooden obstacle" making it come alive and tell a story.

"Music is a language and only those who care for it appreciate it and penetrate down deep into it to see what it has to say and its thesis can speak it well. Isabelle Byman is one of these people.

"In her concert, Miss Byman conveyed her point to the audience by the tone of the piano, her analysis of the music, and perhaps the expression of her face.

"In this generation, Miss Byman is one among many talented musicians and the ones that are to come in the future."

Miss Byman's program was entitled "Design of Music" and included "Way Down Upon the Swanee River" in three styles, i.e. music box, nocturne and boogie-woogie; "Seven Variations on God Save the King" by Beethoven; "Black Key Etude" by Chopin; and three twentieth-century pieces; "Cat and Mouse" by Copland, "The Rails" by Dechevow, and Debussy's "Golliwog's Cake Walk."

Utica Officials Called to Hearing In Budget Rift

Justice John H. Farnham of State Supreme Court is looking into the city administration's demand that the City Council adopt a proposed $9-million budget.

Farnham said Wednesday a decision in the case probably would not be made before next week. He gave that estimate after meeting behind closed doors with lawyers for the nine-member council and Mayor Frank M. Dulan.

The council contends that the mayor's proposed budget is illegal. The city is seeking a court order to require the council to approve the spending plan.

Good Turnout Is Allen's Plea at School Elections

ALBANY — James E. Allen, State Commissioner of Education, issued a statement today urging the voters of school districts to attend their annual school meetings next Tuesday and to support proposals for the improvement of their public schools. The Commissioner's statement follows:

"On Tuesday, May 5, the citizens of more than 300 school districts in the State will assemble at meetings in their respective communities to select persons for service on their school boards and to adopt a school budget for the school year 1964-65.

"Taking part in the annual school meeting is the privilege and obligation of every responsible citizen. The future depends upon our schools and upon the quality of education they provide. I urge all eligible voters to attend their annual meeting and to support those actions which will assure good schools—schools capable of providing for our young people the high quality of education necessary to prepare them for the opportunities and responsibilities which will be theirs in the world of tomorrow."

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

RED TRADE: The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has put itself on record as favoring increased trade in non-strategic goods with the Soviet Union and other European Communist nations.

The resolution was approved Wednesday by about 90 per cent of the businessmen at the annual meeting here.

Speakers favoring a freer trade policy said if U.S. businessmen were prevented from selling to the European Communist countries, the business would go by default to other Western nations with fewer restrictions.

UNDERGROUND TEST: The Atomic Energy Commission reports a low yield underground nuclear test was conducted Wednesday at the AEC's Nevada test site. It was the seventh weapons-related test to be announced by the AEC this year and had the blast equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT: Federal employment increased by 1,615 during March to a total of 2,470,045.

In reporting the figures, the joint congressional committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures said it was the first increase since last October.

The Defense Department made further civilian job cuts in March but several civilian agencies had increases.

Mother's Little Helper

GREAT BEND, Kan. (AP)—When Mrs. Dale de Kraai's daughter, 7 - year - old Kitty, burned the trash for her mother she also burned up an early model car. Mrs. de Kraai had gone to burn the trash earlier but it was too windy and she put it in the car. When the wind stopped she asked Kitty to burn the trash. She did, without moving it.

Who Spit?

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—During a church service a priest walked down an aisle sprinkling holy water on worshippers. A drop fell on the neck of a small boy, who quickly stood up and indignantly asked: "Awright, who spit?"

Hurley Man Hurt Near West Camp

A 36-year-old Hurley man was injured at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday in a two-car collision on Route 9W near West Camp just south of the Greene County line, according to State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes of the Kingston sub-station.

According to a report of Trooper David Wachtel the cars were a 1961 vehicle operated by Frank Rahm, 36, of 43 Mt. View Avenue, Hurley, and a 1962 car driven by James Kennedy, 64, of 834 Warren Street, Hudson.

Troopers said Rahm received injuries of the head and right leg. He said he would see his own physician. Rahm, troopers said, was driving south when the Kennedy vehicle skidded on wet pavement and the crash occurred.

Dog Discrimination

NEW YORK (AP)—An organization has been formed to stop discrimination against dogs. One of the things being done by the newly organized Dog Owners Association of America is to offer its members a $3,000 insurance policy to pay for damage done by their dogs in homes away from home. This, says an association spokesman, is to help combat doggy discrimination by certain motel owners who refuse to allow canines on their premises. The motel people argue that often a dog is many miles away before any canine damage is discovered.

4 From County Named Directors By Dairy Council

Four Ulster County residents were named members of the board of directors Monday night during the 14th annual meeting of the Mid-Hudson Area Dairy Council in Poughkeepsie.

They were:

David Jewett, New Paltz; Robert Guzewich, Kingston; Robert Kelder, Stone Ridge and Albert Molson, Modena.

Other directors named were:

Irving Mosher, president, Stanfordville; Raymond Hammer, vice-president, Poughkeepsie; Morris Yates, secretary, Newburgh; Edwin Fitchett, treasurer, Poughkeepsie; Alex Thorne, Walden; Rowland Sharpe, Rhinebeck; Edmund Petelinz, Newburgh and Richard Emerson, Stamford.

About 100 health and nutrition education leaders and Dairy Council members from Dutchess, Orange and Ulster Counties heard Dr. W. W. Bauer, director emeritus of Health Education for the American Medical Association, speak. Dr. Bauer's message was on Teenage Nutrition.

The speaker said that parents and youth leaders can best teach teenagers to have good eating habits by "setting a good example." He added that nutrition education is often a difficult task because the American public seems to be susceptible to food faddism and nutritional quackery. People are often confused by much of the recent information about dietary requirements.

Dr. Bauer said the "best way to be assured of a well-balanced diet is to learn to eat and enjoy a wide variety of foods from each of the basic four food groups."

Miss Joy Shaw, executive director of the Dairy Council, announced that the National Dairy Council and its 79 affiliated units across the country have chosen teenage nutrition as the area for program emphasis during 1964 and 1965.

Believes Damage Not Due to Sonic Booms

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Some damage in test homes has been found since the Federal Aviation Agency began its sonic-boom program here, but a spokesman said it is not believed that the trouble was caused by faster-than-sound airplanes.

In a report to the FAA Wednesday, two firms said they found cracked wall mirrors, an extended crack in wood trim and some missing grout. Four houses are used as tests.

The report said the damage was minor and was not believed due to sonic booms.

FAA has been conducting the sonic-boom program since Feb. 3 to test reaction of people and property to the noise and vibration created by the aircraft.

Arrest High Falls Man for Giving Trooper Trouble

Accused of interfering with a trooper in making an arrest at the scene of a traffic accident on Route 213 west of High Falls last Friday night, J. Paul Whitten, 36, Box 1, High Falls, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes reported Whitten was arrested Wednesday by Troopers Norman Kilfoyle and Robert Mackey on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Raymond LeFever, Town of Rosendale.

Out on $50 Bail

Whitten was released in $50 bail and hearing was adjourned until May 7 before Justice of the Peace Edmund Ruffner, Town of Marbletown.

Troopers said Kilfoyle investigated a highway accident on Route 213 last Friday night, and while he was arresting the operator of the car involved, Whitten allegedly "incited 20 to 25 bystanders" by remarks and interfered with the arrest.

John Campola, 30, of Stone Ridge, operator of the car in the mishap, was arrested by Kilfoyle on a disorderly conduct charge after he allegedly refused to produce his operator's license or car registration.

Had Scuffle

Kilfoyle charged that Campola wrestled with him during a scuffle and became abusive before he was subdued. Additional charges of driving while intoxicated and assault second degree were filed against Campola.

The Stone Ridge man demanded a preliminary hearing on the felony charge and denied the other charges at arraignment before Justice of the Peace Daniel McMonagle, who paroled the defendant in custody of his attorney Charles Saccoman. The case was adjourned until May 6.

Kilfoyle was treated at the Kingston Hospital emergency room for body bruises and a sprained finger. Campola suffered a cut of the left temple as the result of the accident, but was not hospitalized.

Road Toll Hits High for Period

CHICAGO (AP)—The Nation's traffic deaths in the first three months this year totaled 9,900, a record high for the period and 16 per cent above the corresponding period in 1963.

The National Safety Council said Wednesday that March, with 3,420 highway fatalities, was the 27th month in the last 29 to show an increase in traffic deaths. An increase in deaths over last March was reported in 39 states.

FCC Stands Firm In Wrangle on Johnson Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission is sticking to its guns in a controversy involving the television holdings of President Johnson's family.

It has struck down again a bid by a Texas firm—TV Cable of Austin—to free itself of FCC restriction and compete all-out with KTBC-TV, the station owned by the Johnson interests in Austin.

In doing so, it increased the prospects that a competing firm will win the race with TV Cable for subscribers—and profits—in Austin. And the Johnson interests have an option to purchase half the stock of that competing firm at low cost.

The 6-0 vote Wednesday was another chapter in the lengthening wrangle between two Texas pay television operations seeking to give Austin residents more programs than KTBC, the city's only station, can provide.

KTBC is owned by the Texas Broadcasting Corp., formerly the LBJ Co. Mrs. Johnson—to avoid conflict of interest questions—placed her controlling interest in the company in the hands of trustees shortly after Johnson became President. But control of the station reverts to the Johnson family when Johnson leaves federal office.

TV Cable had asked the FCC to reconsider its earlier refusal to lift the restrictions under which TV Cable must operate in competing with the Johnson station. TV Cable still could continue its fight beyond the FCC in the courts.

TV Cable picks up network programs from three stations in San Antonio and one in Waco with an antenna near Austin. Then it relays them by cable into the homes of subscribers, who pay a monthly fee.

This operation is known as community antenna television. It is aimed at providing more variety—and in some cases television for the first time—in remote areas having few or no television stations.

Holt Will Rest In Korea With Ones He Loved

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Harry Holt, who spent his last 10 years caring for Korean orphans, will be buried Friday on a green Korean hillside among graves of the little ones he loved.

He will be buried in the cemetery of his orphanage at Ilsan, 10 miles north of Seoul.

"This is as he willed," said a spokesman for Holt's widow, who arrived today from their farm at Creswell, Ore.

Holt died of a heart attack at the orphanage Tuesday. He first came to Korean in 1954 to adopt eight Korean orphans. He established the orphanage at Ilsan and set up an organization which placed more than 3,000 orphans in American homes.

SOME SIGHT—When this "money tree" is completed at the New York World's Fair, it will sprout more than $1,000,000 in spendable currency, both U.S. and foreign.

Shake-Up Looms In Harrisburg After Primary

HARRISBURG (AP)—A top-to-bottom leadership shake-up is a certainty for the 1965 General Assembly in the aftermath of Tuesday's primary election.

The balloting will leave vacant the two most important posts in the legislature—President Pro Tempore of the Senate and Speaker of the House.

Incumbent Senate President Pro Tempore M. Harvey Taylor R-Dauphin, was the victim of a startling upset. The 87-year-old Taylor, pro tempore an unprecedented 18 years, lost his bid for renomination to a political unknown, William B. Lentz of Millersburg.

Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader renominated from Potter County, appears to be an early front runner to succeed Taylor.

Republicans must be considered favorites to retain control of both houses of the assembl on the basis of the 1963 reapportionment law which they wrote.

Berger probably would not get the post without a fight, because it pays double the regular $9,000 annual salary for legislators and carries with it control of the senate's sizable payroll and committee assignments.

If Berger succeeds, however, another fight would ensue for the floor leadership. Among the prospects for this post are Sens. Albert R. Pechan, Armstrong, now assistant floor leader; William Z. Scott, Carbon, GOP caucus chairman, and Roland B. Mahany, Crawford, a former floor leader.

The House speakership, which carries the same pay and prerogatives as the GOP Senate office, will be vacated by Rep. W. Stuart Helm, who won the GOP nomination for auditor general.

Prospective candidates for the speakership are less clearly defined at this point, but assuming the GOP controls the House next year they undoubtedly will include:

Floor Leader Kenneth B. Lee, Sullivan County attorney who is leader of a youth movement in the House; Lee K. Donaldson, Allegheny, and Blaine C. Hocker, Dauphin, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Byrne Crevrolet Lauded for Driver Education Assist

A gold seal of commendation has been awarded this week by the Automobile Club of New York to J. H. Byrne Chevrolet Corp., 731 Broadway, in recognition of its contributions to the high school driver education program during the past school year.

In a letter to J. H. Byrne, president, Charles J. Murphy, the auto club's director of traffic engineering and safety, praised the dealer for its "outstanding community service" in providing a new Chevrolet dual control training car for use by students enrolled in the driver education course at Kingston High School.

This participate, he said, will go a long way in helping reduce accidents on the highway. This is the fifth consecutive year, Byrne has participated in this program in the local school.

The high school driver education program, pioneered by the AAA since 1936, offers both behind-the-wheel and classroom instruction to teenagers. This year, more than 12,000 high schools in the country are training some 1,333,000 students.

Two Killed in Plane Crash on Staten Island

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men were killed when a small plane crashed in heavy rain moments after takeoff from Staten Island Airport at dusk Wednesday night.

The dead were identified as Edward Parks, about 40, of Brooklyn, owner and pilot of the two-seater plane, and a friend, Michael Losquadro, 40, of New Dorp, Staten Island, a fuel oil dealer and a private pilot.

Witnesses said the single engine stalled as the plane circled the field in an apparent attempt by the pilot to gain altitude.

The plane plummeted nose down from a height of 150 feet and crashed at the end of the private field.

Plane Lands Safely

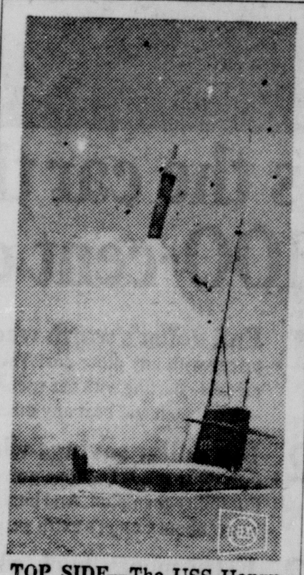
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—An Allegheny Airlines twin-engine plane made an emergency landing at Williamsport Airport Wednesday without injury to crew or passengers.

The unscheduled stop here was occasioned when the left engine developed trouble.

The trouble developed about 25 minutes out of Williamsport, the next airport on the plane's course from Bradford, Pa. to Newark, N.J.

The plane carried 14 passengers and a crew of three. The passsengers were transferred to another flight for the remainder of their trip.

Charles Blondin, famous French tightrope walker, once carried a man across Niagara Falls on his back.



TOP SIDE—The USS Henry Clay demonstrates the fact that Polaris submarines can successfully launch missiles from the surface of the sea as well as they can submerged. In the space of 30 minutes, off Cape Kennedy, it launched one Polaris missile while submerged and one while surfaced.

Warrant Issued For Arrest of CORE Chairman

NEW YORK (AP)—A bench warrant has been issued for the arrest of Isiah Brunson, 22-year-old Negro chairman of the Brooklyn chapter of the Congres of Racial Equality (CORE).

The warrant was issued Wednesday when Brunson failed to appear in Manhattan criminal court to answer charges that grew out of a sit-in at City Hall by civil rights demonstrators last March 27.

About the same time Wednesday, Arnold Goldwag, community relations director and idea man for the Brooklyn CORE chapter, was transferred from Rikers Island Penitentiary to Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric examination.

Psychiatrists at the penitentiary said Goldwag, 26, and white, showed paranoiac tendencies and had been on a hunger strike. Paranoia is a mental disorder characterized chiefly by delusions of persecution or of grandeur.

Brunson and Goldwag had been the chief promoters of an auto stall-in designed to cause massive traffic tieups on roads around the New York World's Fair when it opened a week ago Wednesday. The stall-in failed to develop.

Arrest High Falls Man for Giving Trooper Trouble

Accused of interfering with a trooper in making an arrest at the scene of a traffic accident on Route 213 west of High Falls last Friday night, J. Paul Whitten, 36, Box 1, High Falls, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge.

State Police Sergeant H. S. Rhodes reported Whitten was arrested Wednesday by Troopers Norman Kilfoyle and Robert Mackey on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Raymond LeFever, Town of Rosendale.

Out on $50 Bail

Whitten was released in $50 bail and hearing was adjourned until May 7 before Justice of the Peace Edmund Ruffner, Town of Marbletown.

Troopers said Kilfoyle investigated a highway accident on Route 213 last Friday night, and while he was arresting the operator of the car involved, Whitten allegedly "incited 20 to 25 bystanders" by remarks and interfered with the arrest.

John Campola, 30, of Stone Ridge, operator of the car in the mishap, was arrested by Kilfoyle on a disorderly conduct charge after he allegedly refused to produce his operator's license or car registration.

Had Scuffle

Kilfoyle charged that Campola wrestled with him during a scuffle and became abusive before he was subdued. Additional charges of driving while intoxicated and assault second degree were filed against Campola.

The Stone Ridge man demanded a preliminary hearing on the felony charge and denied the other charges at arraignment before Justice of the Peace Daniel McMonagle, who paroled the defendant in custody of his attorney Charles Saccoman. The case was adjourned until May 6.

Kilfoyle was treated at the Kingston Hospital emergency room for body bruises and a sprained finger. Campola suffered a cut of the left temple as the result of the accident, but was not hospitalized.

Road Toll Hits High for Period

CHICAGO (AP)—The Nation's traffic deaths in the first three months this year totaled 9,900, a record high for the period and 16 per cent above the corresponding period in 1963.

The National Safety Council said Wednesday that March, with 3,420 highway fatalities, was the 27th month in the last 29 to show an increase in traffic deaths. An increase in deaths over last March was reported in 39 states.

FCC Stands Firm In Wrangle on Johnson Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission is sticking to its guns in a controversy involving the television holdings of President Johnson's family.

It has struck down again a bid by a Texas firm—TV Cable of Austin—to free itself of FCC restriction and compete all-out with KTBC-TV, the station owned by the Johnson interests in Austin.

In doing so, it increased the prospects that a competing firm will win the race with TV Cable for subscribers—and profits—in Austin. And the Johnson interests have an option to purchase half the stock of that competing firm at low cost.

The 6-0 vote Wednesday was another chapter in the lengthening wrangle between two Texas pay television operations seeking to give Austin residents more programs than KTBC, the city's only station, can provide.

KTBC is owned by the Texas Broadcasting Corp., formerly the LBJ Co. Mrs. Johnson—to avoid conflict of interest questions—placed her controlling interest in the company in the hands of trustees shortly after Johnson became President. But control of the station reverts to the Johnson family when Johnson leaves federal office.

TV Cable had asked the FCC to reconsider its earlier refusal to lift the restrictions under which TV Cable must operate in competing with the Johnson station. TV Cable still could continue its fight beyond the FCC in the courts.

TV Cable picks up network programs from three stations in San Antonio and one in Waco with an antenna near Austin. Then it relays them by cable into the homes of subscribers, who pay a monthly fee.

This operation is known as community antenna television. It is aimed at providing more variety—and in some cases television for the first time—in remote areas having few or no television stations.

Holt Will Rest In Korea With Ones He Loved

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Harry Holt, who spent his last 10 years caring for Korean orphans, will be buried Friday on a green Korean hillside among graves of the little ones he loved.

He will be buried in the cemetery of his orphanage at Ilsan, 10 miles north of Seoul.

"This is as he willed," said a spokesman for Holt's widow, who arrived today from their farm at Creswell, Ore.

Holt died of a heart attack at the orphanage Tuesday. He first came to Korean in 1954 to adopt eight Korean orphans. He established the orphanage at Ilsan and set up an organization which placed more than 3,000 orphans in American homes.

SOME SIGHT—When this "money tree" is completed at the New York World's Fair, it will sprout more than $1,000,000 in spendable currency, both U.S. and foreign.

Shake-Up Looms In Harrisburg After Primary

HARRISBURG (AP)—A top-to-bottom leadership shake-up is a certainty for the 1965 General Assembly in the aftermath of Tuesday's primary election.

The balloting will leave vacant the two most important posts in the legislature—President Pro Tempore of the Senate and Speaker of the House.

Incumbent Senate President Pro Tempore M. Harvey Taylor R-Dauphin, was the victim of a startling upset. The 87-year-old Taylor, pro tempore an unprecedented 18 years, lost his bid for renomination to a political unknown, William B. Lentz of Millersburg.

Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader renominated from Potter County, appears to be an early front runner to succeed Taylor.

Republicans must be considered favorites to retain control of both houses of the assembl on the basis of the 1963 reapportionment law which they wrote.

Berger probably would not get the post without a fight, because it pays double the regular $9,000 annual salary for legislators and carries with it control of the senate's sizable payroll and committee assignments.

If Berger succeeds, however, another fight would ensue for the floor leadership. Among the prospects for this post are Sens. Albert R. Pechan, Armstrong, now assistant floor leader; William Z. Scott, Carbon, GOP caucus chairman, and Roland B. Mahany, Crawford, a former floor leader.

The House speakership, which carries the same pay and prerogatives as the GOP Senate office, will be vacated by Rep. W. Stuart Helm, who won the GOP nomination for auditor general.

Prospective candidates for the speakership are less clearly defined at this point, but assuming the GOP controls the House next year they undoubtedly will include:

Viet Cong Kills Women, Children InBloodyAmbush

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist guerrillas killed six women and five children in a bloody ambush in central Viet Nam last weekend, American sources reported today. Twenty-one women were wounded.

Two American special forces men who helped fight off the knife-wielding Viet Cong have been recommended for the Silver Star, the sources said.

A three-truck convoy was moving from An Khe to the special forces camp of Plei Ta Nangle in Binh Dinh Province when it was stopped by heavy machine-gun fire.

Traveling in the trucks were a few Vietnamese special forces about 40 women and children.

The Viet Cong rushed the vehicles, brandishing pistols and knives. A Vietnamese sergeant major, his wife and two children were slain in the front seat of the lead truck.

Passengers in the backs of the trucks cowered as the guerrillas leaped among them, demanding to know who they were.

One man said he was a civilian tailor at Plei Ta Nangle camp. He was spared. But the guerrillas slaughtered a man who said he was the camp cook.

Several of the Vietnamese troops also were killed or wounded.

The two Americans were traveling in the second truck and kept the Viet Cong off for some time by firing at them.

Leavitt Hails Petition Results For Barry in 28th

Designating petitions, with signatures of 1,284 enrolled Republicans in the 28th Congressional District, have been filed with the Secretary of State in Albany, thus assuring that names of delegates and alternates pledged to Senator Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) will appear on the ballot in the June 2 primary.

Kent Leavitt, chairman of the district's Republicans for Goldwater Committee, expressed satisfaction that his group's efforts would now enable voters to make their personal choice as to whom should represent them at the Republican National convention in July.

"Filing of the designating petitions grants voters the privilege of choice, a right that would have been denied them by a few Republican leaders who sought to avoid a primary election and to railroad their own slate of Rockefeller committed delegates to represent the 28th District at San Francisco," Leavitt said.

Petitions designating Goldwater delegates and alternates representing nine other Congressional Districts also were filed with the Secretary of State. They were the 2nd portions of Suffolk and Nassau counties; the 4th, Nassau; the 6th, Queens; the 11th, Brooklyn and Staten Island; the 25th, Putnam and northern Westchester; the 26th, southern Westchester; the 27th, Orange, Sullivan and Richmond and the 29th, Erie County

Castro Pledges Try to Prevent U. S. Air Checks

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Wednesday night Cuba will try to prevent U.S. reconnaissance flights over this island "to the limits of what our weapons can do."

But in remarks to diplomats and newsmen attending a Japanese diplomatic reception, he did not specify if that means Cuba will use Soviet rockets to try to bring down U.S. U2 planes.

The United States has announced it will continue such flights despite Cuban protests and Soviet support of the protests.

Castro said Cuba "will not surrender an inch in the problem of flights." He said "we will defend our sovereignty whatever it may cost and wherever it may happen."

Vermont is the only inland state in New England.

"Filing of the designating petitions grants voters the privilege of choice, a right that would have been denied them by a few Republican leaders who sought to avoid a primary election and to railroad their own slate of Rockefeller committed delegates to represent the 28th District at San Francisco," Leavitt said.

Petitions designating Goldwater delegates and alternates representing nine other Congressional Districts also were filed with the Secretary of State. They were the 2nd portions of Suffolk and Nassau counties; the 4th, Nassau; the 6th, Queens; the 11th, Brooklyn and Staten Island; the 25th, Putnam and northern Westchester; the 26th, southern Westchester; the 27th, Orange, Sullivan and Richmond and the 29th, Erie County

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Wednesday night Cuba will try to prevent U.S. reconnaissance flights over this island "to the limits of what our weapons can do."

But in remarks to diplomats and newsmen attending a Japanese diplomatic reception, he did not specify if that means Cuba will use Soviet rockets to try to bring down U.S. U2 planes.

The United States has announced it will continue such flights despite Cuban protests and Soviet support of the protests.

Castro said Cuba "will not surrender an inch in the problem of flights." He said "we will defend our sovereignty whatever it may cost and wherever it may happen."

Vermont is the only inland state in New England.

Naccarato Home On 1st Avenue Damaged by Fire

An early morning fire badly damaged the three-story, brick home of Charles Naccarato at 295 First Avenue today.

Its owner is the father of Third Ward Alderman John J. Naccarato, of 75 Derrenbacher Street. He had stayed over night at his son's home. No one else was reported in the house at the time of the fire.

Firemen said the blaze started in a utility room near a chimney, spread to a bathroom and kitchen, was vented through a bathroom window and spread upward through second-floor timbers.

A section of the second floor collapsed and a stairway was badly damaged.

Damage to the first floor and contents was extensive, and areas of the second floor and contents were damaged. Heat and smoke also caused damage on the third floor. Origin of the blaze is undetermined.

Firemen had to force their way into the house through the front door. A window was aflame when they arrived. Others were broken. Upon entering the house they found the lower area heavily involved in flame, indicating that the fire had been under way for some time.

Units from Central Station, the Wicks and Union companies answered a call at 4:14 a. m., with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Glyn M. Southard in charge.

Stay on Okinawa To Be Long as Chinese Threats

By ROBERT EUNSON

NAKA, Okinawa (AP)—"We will remain here so long as threats and tensions continue to exist."

The threats referred to are from Communist China.

The tensions have gripped this part of the world 19 years.

Here happens to be Okinawa, a 67-mile-long island, believed to be Uncle Sam's most important nuclear weapons base in the Far East. It is 15 minutes, as the jets fly, from Red China.

The statement about remaining here was made by Lt. Gen. Paul W. Caraway, high commissioner to the Ryukyu Islands since 1961.

"We're here for national security and to fulfill our commitments to the free world," Caraway told The Associated Press. "We can only carry out that task if we are unimpeded."

Asked about a suggestion that political control of the Ryukyus be returned to Japan with the United States still retaining its vast network of air and military bases, Caraway replied "anything is possible."

"Article Three of the Japanese peace treaty says the United States is given—and the Japanese agreed to it—any and all powers of administration, legislative and judicial, in the Ryukyu Islands. The United States can exercise these powers so long as it wishes," he said.

Asked if Okinawa actually might be written off in case of an all-out war because of its proximity to the Chinese mainland, Caraway snapped:

"This is an attitude that is developing in the United States, especially among Washington newsmen. We will remain here so long as threats and tensions continue to exist."

One school of thought among this island's 95,000 American inhabitants, including the 3rd Marine Division, is that Okinawa would be safer than the mainland since both the Communists and the United States would be blasting at each other's homeland in case of atomic war.

Okinawa is known as "the billion-dollar base," but that figure can't include all Uncle Sam has invested here. The whole island is one mighty base. Military and civilian roads, telephone systems, water and power networks are completely integrated.

Bases on Japan have been emasculated, so far as any true strength is concerned, because of left-wing opposition to nuclear weapons or the basing there of planes or vessels which transport them.

"We are here to meet our security arrangements with our allies," Caraway declared. "We're here to protect the Western Pacific from aggression."

Caraway retires Aug. 1 and will be succeeded by Lt. Gen. Albert Watson II. The job is the nearest thing the United States has had to a governor-general in the Pacific since it gave up the Philippines. And that is the position some Americans in Okinawa want Caraway and his successor to have.

"We need an organic act by Congress which will put the Ryukyus in a commonwealth status, such as we have Puerto Rico, Guam, or used to have the Philippine Islands," says Howard McClellan, president of the American Chamber of Commerce on Okinawa.

McClellan and other Americans here hold that a commonwealth status is necessary until such time as the islands revert to Japan.

Attorney Starts Appeals Move in Jack Ruby Case

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Jack Ruby case enters a new phase today as lawyers begin formal preparation of appeals documents for the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Attorney Joe Tonahill said he hopes to have the matter before the state's only appellate criminal court within six months.

Judge Joe B. Brown denied a defense motion for a new trial Wednesday — exactly a month and a half after Ruby, 53, received a death verdict from a Dallas jury.

The former night club operator was convicted of murder with malice for the Nov. 24 killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Should the Court of Criminal Appeals rule against Ruby, he and his lawyers will have to turn to the federal courts. Observers say the appeal of the verdict could take years.

Bolivian Violinist Will Make Appearance With Hudson Valley Philharmonic May 4

Jamie Laredo, young Bolivian violinist will be guest artist when the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra presents its concert on May 4 at 8:30 p. m. at the Kingston Community Theatre.

JAMIE LAREDO

Laredo was born in Cochabamba, Bolivia on June 8, 1941. At six he was given a violin for Christmas and he instinctively tuned it to concert pitch without the aid of the piano or a pitch-pipe. In 1948 he was taken to San Francisco where he studied with Antonio de Grassi and Frank Houser. At the age of eighteen Laredo triumphed over hundreds of applicants from all over the world to win the Queen Elizabeth of Belgium music competition. In 1953 he went to Cleveland, Ohio for further study with Joseph Gingold. Later he worked with Ivan Galamian at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

His first public performance at the age of eight was a full recital in Sacramento, California. He played with the San Francisco Symphony under Fiedler, at the age of eleven during the Orcestra's summer concert series. At fourteen he presented a recital in the Hall of the America's of the Pan American Union in Washington, D. C. In 1956, at the age of fifteen, he made a ten concert tour of Peru, Bolivia and Puerto Rico. On January 8, 1959 he presented his second concert in Washington, D. C. under the auspices of the Pan American Union.

Some of the awards and scholarships he won include those of the Pacific Musical Club; Society for Strings; and scholarships from the Curtis Institute and the Bolivian Government. Another recent honor included being among the first of Latin Americans to win a fellowship to the Casals Festival of Puerto Rico in 1957.

Laredo has twice toured Europe since winning the Belgium contest and has appeared with monumental success in the United States with the orchestras of Philadelphia, Cleveland, Washington and Dallas, and debuted in recital in New York and Philadelphia with great distinction. For his first RCA Victor recording "Presenting Jaime Laredo" he has been singled out as "The Best Young Performing Artist of the Year".

His native Boliva has bestowed upon him the highest honor of his country and when he returned to South America to accept the decoration he was hailed as a conquering hero, by the issue of postage stamps bearing his likeness.

The program for the evening will feature Mr. Laredo's performance of the Violin Concerto No. 3 in G by Mozart. In addition to accompanying Mr. Laredo, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of Claude Monteux, musical director, will present Tansman's Variations on a Theme by Frescobaldi; Symphony No. 5 by Schubert, and Symphony No. 103 in E Flat by Haydn.

Tickets for this outstanding concert may be reserved by writing to the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, P. O. Box 1, Uptown Station, Kingston, N. Y., or may be purchased at the box office the evening of the concert.

ENLARGING THE GROUP

Q: Last week my husband and I and two other couples decided to go to a well-known night spot this coming Saturday night. Yesterday afternoon while talking to a friend on the telephone I mentioned to her that we were going to this club and added, "Why don't you and John join us?" She said they would be delighted. When I told the others that Mary and John were coming with us, one couple was very much annoyed because I had asked them and think I should have consulted the others first. Since the evening is to be Dutch Treat, I certainly see nothing wrong in my asking them to come along. May I please have your opinion?

A: Even though the evening is to be Dutch Treat, it would have been considerate to have consulted the others to find out whether they minded Mary and John joining you, before asking them to do so.

Long Dresses at Morning Wedding

Q: My daughter is going to be married at an eleven o'clock nuptial Mass at the Cathedral. There will be a reception following at the country club. Would it be proper for the mothers of the bride and groom to wear ankle length dresses at a forenoon wedding?

A: At a formal wedding—even one taking place before noon—the mothers of the bride and groom may properly wear ankle-length dresses.

Hairdresser Opens Own Shop

Q: After many years of working for someone else, my hairdresser is opening his own shop. Upon his opening, I would like to send him some flowers. Might this be misunderstood? Also, do I continue to tip him?

A: To send him flowers or a plant with your best wishes for his success would be quite proper and could not possibly be misunderstood. The owner of a shop is not given a tip.

Sunday Concert Is Scheduled by UCCC

JOHN PARK

A concert next Sunday by John Park, tenor, will be the second in the spring series of three Sunday afternoon musicales presented by Ulster County Community College. This concert, which will begin at 3:30 p. m. in the Music Room at the College, is a part of the local college's continuing series of programs of cultural and educational interest to the community.

Accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Walter Hopkins, Dr. Park will be heard in a group of old English songs, a group of German Lieder by Schubert and Brahms, two French operatic arias from Massenet's "Manon" and Lalo's "Le Roi d'Ys," two Italian operatic arias, and a group of Welsh, Irish, American and English folk songs.

A native South Carolinian, Dr. Park came to Kingston last September to become director of music instruction at Ulster County Community College. Previously, he taught courses in music literature and courses in theory and musicianship at Columbia University where he received his doctorate. He taught voice and theory at the University of Georgia and voice at the University of Florida where he was director of the University Concert Men's Glee Club. At both universities he was a member of the performing music faculty.

In addition to his experience as a tenor and oratorio soloist and recitalist, Dr. Park has specialized in the performance of Baroque music and German Lieder. About his singing, one critic has commented: "Any real artist changes his vocal mood to match his song, but Dr. Park changed his whole character as a performer as well as his singing to fit each group. He has a lyric voice which is capable of power strokes when needed, and also has many moments of rare beauty, with ease of production."

Dr. Park is a member of Pi Mu Alpha, Phi Delta Kappa, the National Association of Teachers of Singing, and the American Guild of Organists, as well as several professional associations. In addition to the doctorate, he holds the bachelor's and master's degrees in musicology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He has done vocal study with Mme. Olga Ryss, Jennie Tourel, and the late Mack Harrell. While attending the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music he was a vocal student of Robert Powell.

Mrs. Hopkins is accompanist for the College Chorus at UCCC and is organist for Grace Community Church of Lake Katrine. She is a graduate of Wheaton College in Illinois and is the wife of Professor Walter Hopkins of the engineering and technology faculty at the local college.

Sunday afternoon's concert is open to the public and no admission fee will be charged.

JOHN PARK

A concert next Sunday by John Park, tenor, will be the second in the spring series of three Sunday afternoon musicales presented by Ulster County Community College. This concert, which will begin at 3:30 p. m. in the Music Room at the College, is a part of the local college's continuing series of programs of cultural and educational interest to the community.

Accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Walter Hopkins, Dr. Park will be heard in a group of old English songs, a group of German Lieder by Schubert and Brahms, two French operatic arias from Massenet's "Manon" and Lalo's "Le Roi d'Ys," two Italian operatic arias, and a group of Welsh, Irish, American and English folk songs.

A native South Carolinian, Dr. Park came to Kingston last September to become director of music instruction at Ulster County Community College. Previously, he taught courses in music literature and courses in theory and musicianship at Columbia University where he received his doctorate. He taught voice and theory at the University of Georgia and voice at the University of Florida where he was director of the University Concert Men's Glee Club. At both universities he was a member of the performing music faculty.

In addition to his experience as a tenor and oratorio soloist and recitalist, Dr. Park has specialized in the performance of Baroque music and German Lieder. About his singing, one critic has commented: "Any real artist changes his vocal mood to match his song, but Dr. Park changed his whole character as a performer as well as his singing to fit each group. He has a lyric voice which is capable of power strokes when needed, and also has many moments of rare beauty, with ease of production."

Dr. Park is a member of Pi Mu Alpha, Phi Delta Kappa, the National Association of Teachers of Singing, and the American Guild of Organists, as well as several professional associations. In addition to the doctorate, he holds the bachelor's and master's degrees in musicology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He has done vocal study with Mme. Olga Ryss, Jennie Tourel, and the late Mack Harrell. While attending the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music he was a vocal student of Robert Powell.

Mrs. Hopkins is accompanist for the College Chorus at UCCC and is organist for Grace Community Church of Lake Katrine. She is a graduate of Wheaton College in Illinois and is the wife of Professor Walter Hopkins of the engineering and technology faculty at the local college.

Sunday afternoon's concert is open to the public and no admission fee will be charged.

Vivaldi's works, both for violin and voice, have been constantly performed during the centuries and the "Gloria" which will be performed by the choir, has been increasingly popular with choral groups during recent years.

In contrast to the Vivaldi work, the choir will do a contemporary cantata "I Hear America Singing," by George Kleinsinger. It was written in 1939 and the text is from poetry by Walt Whitman. Much of it is from his famous "Leaves of Grass."

The cantata was first performed at a labor pageant in Madison Square Garden with John Charles Thomas as the soloist and narrator and broadcast from Washington, D. C., on the eve of Franklin D. Roosevelt's third inauguration.

The program will conc'ude with a medley of selections from the ever popular "Porgy ard Bess" by Gershwin.

Tickets to the concert are now available from members of the choir. Public is cordially invited to attend.

Buzzanco Given Till May 6 on New Junk Yard

Unless a written contract of purchase or some other evidence is produced by next Wednesday that Andy Buzzanco will acquire a site outside the city and remove his junk yard from Abeel Street, he will again be committed to jail for contempt of court.

Buzzanco, who conducts a junk yard at 217 Abeel Street, has been in conflict with the city zoning ordinance for some time. He has spent time in jail when he failed to comply with the order of the court directing that he remove the junk from the premises.

Last summer after two or three weeks in jail for failure to comply with the provisions of the city zoning law, a stipulation was entered into that he would clear up the premises within 60 days.

Buzzanco was brought into Supreme Court today before Justice Lawrence H. Cooke on a contempt proceeding instituted by George Beck, chairman of the Kingston Zoning Board of Appeals, who alleged that Buzzanco had failed to comply with provisions of the stipulation.

The matter came on before Justice Cooke at 10 a. m. and an adjournment was taken until 12 noon to allow Buzzanco time to secure counsel.

Seeks Esopus Site

Buzzanco appeared at noon with Martin Reuben of Phoenicia. Appearing for the Zoning Board of Appeals was Corporation Counsel Harry Gold.

Buzzanco said he was in the process of securing a site in the Town of Esopus where he would move his junk yard.

In view of past experiences, Corporation Counsel Gold insisted that some evidence of good intent be provided when Buzzanco's attorney asked for 30 days to allow time to move the junk yard from the Abeel Street location.

Buzzanco said he was in the process of acquiring property consisting of a woodlot in the town of Esopus.

Justice Cooke, after stating that the city had been more than lenient in the matter, adjourned the matter until next Wednesday when Buzzanco is to produce before the court some form of agreement indicating that he is acquiring property and will move the yard from Kingston.

Chairman Beck told the court that the city was interested in getting rid of the junk yard rather than incarcerating anyone and the adjournment until next Wednesday was agreed upon. If such evidence is produced at the adjourned time, Beck said there would be no objection to a 30 day period for compliance with the order.

Area residents may visit the garden shop and see the rose display, view a color film on growing roses and have Cronan answer questions on garden problems. (Freeman photo)

Instant Foxhole Digger Success At Fort Benning

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — The U.S. Army has come up with a successful device destined to gladden the heart of every infantryman—an instant foxhole.

To dig a proper foxhole in the past, a soldier needed a pick, shovel, stamina and sometimes a prayer. And there were reports that some GIs and Marines in a hurry dug sufficient holes with their bare hands.

A team from the U.S. Combat Development Command's infantry agency put the new development on display Wednesday at Ft. Benning.

The result may make it possible for a soldier to pick up a one-pound foxhole digger from the supply sergeant and take a rest while the things digs a hole for him.

What's more, says the Army, the hole can be dug in the hardest, rockiest ground.

The foxhole digger comes in two parts—the first part for blasting a small hole two inches in diameter and several inches deep. This is known as a pilot hole.

The second part of the device is placed in the pilot hole, a primer is set, and the soldier gets out of the way for about 30 seconds while a cratering explosion digs the foxhole.

The instant foxhole was developed at the Engineer Research and Development Laboratory, Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The demonstration showed the device works best in hard, rocky, clay-type soil or frozen ground. This is because dirt blasted from soft, loam-type soil tends to cave in along the sides and the soldier has to pitch it out with a shovel.

Although the device still is in the experimental stage, it is expected to be tested in the field by troops beginning in October.

The instant foxhole varies from 20 to 36 inches deep and about two feet in diameter.

The three-stage Saturn V rocket that will blast American astronauts to the moon will deliver a first-stage thrust of 7,500,000 pounds.

Sammartino, The Kentuckians Capture Wrestling Features

Record Turnout At Auditorium

The merry madcaps of the professional wrestling circuit returned to Kingston last night after a long absence and within a couple hours reduced the municipal auditorium to a shambles.

One of the largest crowds in years estimated at about 1700 saw the current sensations of the circuit put on a show the likes of which has never been seen before.

In the key match of the night, Bruno Sammartino, 260, of Abruzzi, Italy, the current darling of the game, rendered Dr. Jerry Graham, 300, of Phoenix, Arizona, hors de combat in exactly 5 minutes and 30 seconds. He did it by the simple expedient of clamping a bear hug on Graham and making him holler uncle.

The Kentuckians Win

The Kentuckians, with a combined weight of 724 pounds, routed Gorilla Monsoon, 356, Manchuria, and Boris Malenkov, 230, Tampa, in straight falls in a prize tag-team donnybrook.

In a setting of complete bedlam, the boys from Perry County, Kentucky took the first fall in 12 minutes, 34 seconds, when the Gorilla and Boris resorted to such playful antics as eye gouging, butting, kicking and everything else in the unapproved book.

The second fall terminated at 11 minutes, 40 seconds, with Monsoon and Malenkov completely out of commission. The hillbillies added an intriguing note to their performance. Equipped with a horn like those used in fox hunts, the brother who was resting would blow a stentorian note when the other appeared to be in difficulty. The result was pure magic. Brothers Luke and Jake really had a time for themselves.

The other results:

Tony Marino, 240, Rochester, and Arnie Skaaland, 234, White Plains, wrestled to a 20-minute draw.

Ernie (Cat) Ladd, 325, the professional football player from San Diego, Calif., disposed of Klondike Bill, 336, of Kodiak, Alaska, in 16 minutes, 30 seconds with a simple bear hug.

Argentine Apollo, 231, Buenos Aires, the one time Madison Square Garden sensation, was awarded a decision over Luke Graham, 280, Phoenix, Arizona, after 15:05 of riotous action. Graham was eventually disqualified for tactics unbecoming a gentleman.

BASEBALL QUEEN: Donna Nelke has been elected Queen of the Dutchess Community College-hosted National Junior College Athletic Association (Region XV) baseball tournament at Riverview Field, Poughkeepsie, May 8 and 9. Miss Nelke, a first-year student at the host college, will present this high trophy to the captain of the winning team.

Wiggie de Lisio Again Captures Florida Title

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio of Woodstock has won her third women's championship at the Sunset Golf and Country Club in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Mrs. de Lisio defeated Mrs. Natalie McMasters, 2 and 1, for the title. She was also club champion in 1958 and 1959. She has won numerous Woodstock Country Club titles and every Ulster County Women's Golf Association since the tournament was inaugurated.

At the present time, Mrs. de Lisio is involved in the defense of her Florida West Coast championship, the major women's tournament in Florida.

Ahead to Cassius

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson has a plan for the future. Contrary to the opinion of some people, he thinks his future still is ahead of him.

"If I beat Eddie Machen (July 5 at Stockholm) I am going to try to get Cassius Clay," the former world heavyweight champion said. "I feel I may get the chance. After that, if I am victorious, I want to fight Sonny Liston. Then I shall retire — provided I don't get knocked out in the first round.

"I would have retired after my second fight with Liston in Las Vegas if I had made a better showing. When I got knocked out in the first round again I had to remain in boxing."

Patterson and Machen were at a midtown restaurant Wednesday to announce a 12-round match at 45,000-seat Solna Stadium, a Stockholm football field. Edwin Ahlquist and Al Bolan, the copromoters, talked of a possible $450,000 sellout. Bolan said he was negotiating with John Vrba of Los Angeles, head of Fourth Network, to fly the films back from Stockholm for a 10 p.m. showing on U.S. television the same night, a Sunday.

Machen, making a comeback at 31, said he was guaranteed $50,000 plus 30 per cent of the ancillary rights. Patterson, 29, was vague and said he was working on a percentage of everything. It is believed Patterson is getting 40 per cent.

California Has Monopoly for Kentucky Derby

By KELSO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—California, which in years past has seen many of its fine thoroughbreds eating dust—or mud—at the finish of the Kentucky Derby, is making a big move to monopolize the classic for 3-year-olds.

This year's short-priced favorite, Hill Rise, is from George A. Pope Jr.'s El Paco Ranch, located near Madera, Calif. Two years ago Pope's Decidedly won the Derby. Last year Candy Spots, from the California stable of Rex Ellsworth, was the big favorite but finished third.

Hill Rise, who won Tuesday's Derby Trial in a breeze, was expected to top a list of 13 definite starters named today to run in Saturday's $125,000-added 1¼-mile Derby. Ewo other colts were considered possibilities.

Those slated for sure to oppose Hill Rise are Northern Dancer, Quadrangle, Mr. Brick, the Scoundrel, Roman Brother, Dandy K., Mr. Moonlight, Wil Rad, Ishkoodah, Prince Davelle, Royal Shuck and Extra Swell.

The owners of Clem Pac and He's A Gem aso were expected to put up the $250 it took to pass through the entry box today and then decide later whether to start.

Post Time—4:30

The race will be televised from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. EST, over CBS. Post time for the Derby is 4:30.

Hill Rise, with eight straight wins, will be out to add more prestige to West Coast racing and is expected to go off a much stronger favorite than Candy Spots.

Swaps, Decidedly and Morvich are the only Californiabreds in 90 years to win the historic race. But there is every indication that this average is going up fast.

The weather remained a big factor in the first jewel of the Triple Crown. Rain fell much of Wednesday but did not have seriously affect on the track. The long-range forecasts calls for a little more moisture before Derby Day.

Racing fans began pouring into Louisville today and officials at Churchill Downs predict a record crowd for the Derby if the weather is good. Regardless of the weather, at least the traditional 100,000 are expected to witness the race.

Knothole League Announces Plans

Jackie Farrell Will Speak At VFW Dinner for Fred Davi

A long time friend of Fred Davi in New York Yankees official family — Jackie Farrell — has been added to speaking list for the V.F.W.'s Citizenship Award Dinner honoring Davi Saturday night at the V.F.W. Hall on Delaware avenue.

Farrell, a member of the Yankees public relations department, has made frequent appearances in Kingston and is known as a highly interesting and witty speaker. His association with Davi goes back many years.

Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, is also on the speaking list. Attorney Charles Saccoman will be the toastmaster. Tickets are still available for the dinner.

Hometown Star Tourney Pick

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—A hometown gal, Clifford Ann Creed, is sentimental favorite to win Alexandria's $7,500 Ladies Professional Golf Association tourney which sponsors have named in her honor.

But judging from the tour's five previous tournaments, first-place money in the 54-hole Creed Invitational opening Friday is up for grabs.

There's been a new winner every week.

Miss Creed, 5-foot-4, hazel-eyed 1963 Rookie of the Year and daughter of a local golf pro, will be looking for her first pro victory when she tees off in the opening round.

Even so, the 25-year-old six-times state amateur champion rates an edge in her own three-day tourney. Clifford — who's named after her dad—knows the Alexandria Country club's wooded, rolling fairways like the palm of her hand.

She finished fourth last year, and the gallery will be pulling for her to go all the way this time.

Top contenders are Marilynn Smith, defending champ, and Mickey Wright, winner of the Peach Blossom Open in Spartanburg, S.C.

Boys Club Baseball School Is Underway

Kingston Boys Club officials announced that the club is sponsoring a spring baseball school which got underway last week at the Metropolitan Playground opposite the clubhouse on Greenkill Avenue.

John Holochuck, executive director of the club, said the school will continue every afternoon at 4 at the playground until June 19. Carlo Castiglione and Joseph Darwak, local club leaders, are in charge of the school sessions, which emphasize fielding, throwing, hitting, bunting, base running and sliding, catching and strategy. They said the sessions are open to any boy interested in improving his baseball skill, and that participants do not have to be Boys Club members to take part.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer led off as the big name golfers in the $65,000 Tournament of Champions today. But in the risky business of this game, risky business of this game, nothing is certain and no one is a cinch.

Power - hitting Nicklaus won here a year ago and Palmer in 1962. And three weeks ago Palmer broke out of a lengthy slump to win the famed Masters for an unprecedented fourth time.

The pair are co-favorites.

But in the 16 major tournaments played this year, there have been 16 different winners.

Counting the final three tourneys of 1963, the string stretches to 19, with as many different winners.

Such a series, according to PGA historian Doc Giffin, is unmatched in professional golf records.

Twenty-nine players were set to tee off today over the 7,073-yard, par 36-36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course. Weather forecasts called for sunny skies.

Among the other notable contenders were U. S. Open champion Julius Boros, British Open champion Bob Charles from New Zealand and Gary Player of South Africa.

Another solid challenger was Bill Casper Jr. He was a threat last year until forced out after nine holes in the final round by a hand injury. He was also second to Palmer here in 1962.

Sammartino, The Kentuckians Capture Wrestling Features

Record Turnout At Auditorium

The merry madcaps of the professional wrestling circuit returned to Kingston last night after a long absence and within a couple hours reduced the municipal auditorium to a shambles.

One of the largest crowds in years estimated at about 1700 saw the current sensations of the circuit put on a show the likes of which has never been seen before.

In the key match of the night, Bruno Sammartino, 260, of Abruzzi, Italy, the current darling of the game, rendered Dr. Jerry Graham, 300, of Phoenix, Arizona, hors de combat in exactly 5 minutes and 30 seconds. He did it by the simple expedient of clamping a bear hug on Graham and making him holler uncle.

The Kentuckians Win

The Kentuckians, with a combined weight of 724 pounds, routed Gorilla Monsoon, 356, Manchuria, and Boris Malenkov, 230, Tampa, in straight falls in a prize tag-team donnybrook.

In a setting of complete bedlam, the boys from Perry County, Kentucky took the first fall in 12 minutes, 34 seconds, when the Gorilla and Boris resorted to such playful antics as eye gouging, butting, kicking and everything else in the unapproved book.

The second fall terminated at 11 minutes, 40 seconds, with Monsoon and Malenkov completely out of commission. The hillbillies added an intriguing note to their performance. Equipped with a horn like those used in fox hunts, the brother who was resting would blow a stentorian note when the other appeared to be in difficulty. The result was pure magic. Brothers Luke and Jake really had a time for themselves.

The other results:

Tony Marino, 240, Rochester, and Arnie Skaaland, 234, White Plains, wrestled to a 20-minute draw.

Ernie (Cat) Ladd, 325, the professional football player from San Diego, Calif., disposed of Klondike Bill, 336, of Kodiak, Alaska, in 16 minutes, 30 seconds with a simple bear hug.

Argentine Apollo, 231, Buenos Aires, the one time Madison Square Garden sensation, was awarded a decision over Luke Graham, 280, Phoenix, Arizona, after 15:05 of riotous action. Graham was eventually disqualified for tactics unbecoming a gentleman.

BASEBALL QUEEN: Donna Nelke has been elected Queen of the Dutchess Community College-hosted National Junior College Athletic Association (Region XV) baseball tournament at Riverview Field, Poughkeepsie, May 8 and 9. Miss Nelke, a first-year student at the host college, will present this high trophy to the captain of the winning team.

Stall Applications Pouring Into Monticello Raceway

MONTICELLO — With stall applications pouring into Monticello Raceway on a daily basis, the huge task of sifting through the reams of paperwork is currently underway.

Racing Secretary Ed Parker, whose main job at this time of the year is to fill the Mighty M's 700 stalls with the best possible horses, is currently burning the midnight oils as he goes about his herculean task.

Monticello, which opens for its seventh season of harness racing on Thursday, May 28, will begin admitting horses on Monday, May 4.

"Applications have already totaled close to 1,500," says Parker, "and we expect to have around 2,000 in by the May 1 deadline."

The heavy response, attributed partly to Monticello's initiation of a two-year-old racing program this season, is the best ever at the Sullivan County harness track.

The job of Parker and his staff is to select the best possible racing stock from among the piles of stall applications.

300 Two-Year-Olds

"We are planning to allow about 300 two-year-olds on the grounds," Parker stated, "leaving us in the neighborhood of 400 stalls for aged stock."

Some of the leading drivers who have applied for stall space at the Mighty M thus far are Carl Larsen, who handles four-year-old trotting star B. F. Coaltown among others; Eldon Harner, the leading driver at Batavia Downs a year ago; Bill Faucher, one of the top reinsmen in New England during the past few years; Bob Camper, who has a solid stable of stars spiced by a number of promising juveniles; Paige West, and Howard Camden.

Such local favorites as Carmine Abbatiello, who last year ranked 18th nationally with 102 winning drives; Arthur Koch, Pat Iovine, Johnny Edmunds, and Frank and Bill Popfinger have also submitted requests for stall space.

Nationally-ranked drivers like Billy Haughton, Stanley Dancer and Howard Beissinger are also expected to base their juveniles at Monticello this summer.

It all adds up to what could be the strongest field of horses ever to campaign at the Catskill Mountain oval.

Patton Making Fast Finishes

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—The North and South Amateur Golf Tournament's quarter - final round comes up today and defending champion Billy Joe Patton has yet to play the 16th hole.

The 42-year-old Morganton, N.C., lumber dealer hasn't extended "Patton's Platoon," the modest gallery that has been forced to eat an early breakfast to follow its hero in the daily leadoff match over the 7,000-yard No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Billy Joe has been getting his followers back to the clubhouse in time for late breakfast or an early lunch.

In winning four matches, the last three by 4 and 3 scores, he has traveled only 58 holes.

Frank Stafaci, whose 1938-39 victories were the last back-to-back successes until Patton turned the feat in 1962-63, went against Billy Joe today with a record of 70 holes played.

The Miami, Fla., veteran celebrated his 48th birthday Wednesday with a 21-hole morning third-round victory over Alfred Sams, a Macon, Ga., southpaw, then went to the 18th to oust Walker Cup player Bob Gardner of Essex Fells, N.J.

Cloninger Strategy Backfired

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tony Cloninger said he had been throwing curve balls all night to Willie Stargell—so Willie probably wouldn't be looking for another one.

Stargell said Cloninger had been throwing him curve balls all night—so he was looking for another one.

Willie was right. Tony curved him, Willie rapped a single to right with two out in the seventh inning and ruined Cloninger's bid for a no-hitter.

But Cloninger, a 23-year-old right-hander who got a $100,000 bonus from the Milwaukee Braves and was expected to start paying dividends this year, went on to pitch a one-hitter and a 1-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

That evened Cloninger's record on the year at 1-1. The loss was to Houston's Ken Johnson, who later went on to pitch his no-hitter—and lose.

"I'd rather pitch a one-hitter and win," said Cloninger.

In other National League action, the Los Angeles Dodgers won their fourth straight game, 7-2 over Houston, the San Francisco Giants dumped the Chicago Cubs 4-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals edged the New York Mets 4-3 in 11 innings. The Philadelphia at Cincinnati game was rained out.

Bob Veale Is Victim

Victim of Cloninger's one-hitter was Bob Veale, who threw a six-hitter for the Pirates. Felipe Alou singled the only Milwaukee run across in the third.

Don Nottebart of Houston, who had a no-hitter last year, flirted with another one against the Dodgers—and it looked for a while as if he might duplicate Johnson's losing effort. Although he had not allowed a hit, Nottebart trailed 1-0 with two out in the seventh.

Then rookie John Werhas broke it up with a single. Werhas batted in three runs on the night. Another rookie, Nick Willhite, pitched the victory, a five-hitter. He was the latest Dodger to step in and take up the slack left by injuries to Sandy Koufax and Johnny Podres.

The Dodgers, who lifted their season mark to 6-9, now have allowed only three runs in their last four games.

Automobile Ride Helps Lee Make the Big Jump

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Lee, who took an automobile ride to notoriety last season, is flying high these days with the Los Angeles Angels.

Lee, a rookie right-handed pitcher who jumped to the Angels from Class D competition, won his first major league game Wednesday night, hurling a one-hitter for seven innings as Los Angeles whipped Washington 5-1.

Only last Saturday night, Lee held Cleveland to four hits in 10 innings in a game the Indians eventually won 2-1 in 11.

Lee's automobile trip came during the tremendous year he had for Batavia of the New York-Pennsylvania League. Then the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Lee was called on to pitch in an exhibition game at Cleveland against the Indians.

He drove to the game, struck out 16 and rapped two doubles in a 7-1 victory, then drove back to Batavia.

Had 20-2 Record

He proceeded to finish the season with a 20-2 record and a 1.70 earned run average, the best marks in the league.

Actually the rise from Batavia to the Angels was not as meteoric as it might seem. The 26-year-old Iowa native spent so much time prepping for the majors he should have considered pushing for an old-age pension plan for the minor leagues.

Lee pitched in the minors for eight years, starting in 1956. His record in that time wasn't even good. Before Batavia, he won 38 games and lost 55.

But now, suddenly, after two starts and 21 innings with Los Angeles, he has compiled a 1.29 earned run average.

Lee's performance Wednesday night highlighted an American League schedule riddled by rain. Detroit nipped Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings, and Baltimore downed Boston 4-2 in other games. Rain washed out Chicago at New York while wet grounds knocked out Cleveland at Minnesota.

Has Second Start

Lee, making his second start, gave up only a single to Dick Phillips with one out in the fifth inning. He was removed from the game when he tired in the eighth after walking Hunt. While he was in, the Senators didn't move a man past first base.

After he walked Hunt, though, Washington scored on singles by Don Lock and Ken Retzer off reliever Bob Duliba.

Joe Koppe tripled home two runs for the Angels in a three-run second inning. Tom Satriano and Bob Rodgers knocked in runs in the third.

Don Demeter's home run off John Wyatt gave the Tigers their extra-inning triumph. Detroit had taken a 4-0 lead, but the Athletics roared back behind the hitting of Ed Charles.

Charles slugged a solo homer in the sixth, then capped a three-run rally in the seventh with a run-scoring single. Dick Green's single and a double play accounted for the other two runs in the inning.

Hill Rise Looks Good to Arcaro

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Old "Banana Nose," the most successful of all jockeys, will be in mufti instead of silks when they saddle up Saturday for the Kentucky Derby but if he could pick his mount it would be Hill Rise.

"This is a big, strong colt—I think he'll take it," said Eddie Arcaro, the millionaire saddlesmth and winner of a record five Derbies, today in his busy mid-Manhattan office.

"He's got a lot of 'ones' on his record (eight straight, and he proved in the Derby Trial Tuesday that he can go any kind of track. Besides, Willie Shoemaker rode both Northern Dancer and Hill Rise, and then chose Hill Rise. That's enough for me."

Arcaro, 48, at 118 only nine pounds over his racing weight, said he hasn't been able to keep up with the sport since he retired two years ago.

"I own this insurance business and just recently I took a plunge in electronics, making a remote-control alarm system," Arcaro said. "On Saturdays and Sundays, when I'm off, I don't go to the race track. I play golf."

He said he ducks the race tracks because he gets tired of shaking hands.

"I seldom look at a racing form any more," he added.

In 31 years of racing, the mite-sized native of Cincinnati had 4,779 winners and his mounts earned a record $30,039,543. He is the only man to ride five Derby victors — Lawrin, Whirlaway, Hoop Jr., Citation and Hill Gail—and the only one twice to win the Triple Crown. He did it on Whirlaway in 1941 and Citation in 1958.

Arcaro says Citation is the best horse he ever rode.

Can Willie Mays Be First .400 Hitter in 34 Years?

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Can Willie Mays become the National League's first .400 hitter in 34 years?

With the season only 11 games old, Wondrous Willie is batting .488 and they can't seem to get him out.

But his own San Francisco Giant manager, Al Dark, said today odds are insurmountable for Mays to become the loop's first .400 batter since Bill Terry's .401 in 1930.

The reason?

"Willie is just too brilliant an all-around player," said Dark. "When you play 162 games like Mays does—fielding like he does running like he does, and hustling like he does—it is humanly impossible for him to hit .400.

"A .400 hitter has to concentrate on hitting. Willie concentrates on everything.

"Furthermore, if Willie only hit .250, he'd still be the greatest ball player around."

Willie Cautious

Mays, who will be 33 on May 6, refused to discuss the possibility of joining the legendary circle of .400 hitters.

"I'm not saying anything, but not anything," Mays commented after his triple and two singles in five trips helped squelch the Chicago Cubs 4-0 Wednesday.

"Let other people talk," said Mays. "Me, I just play baseball and take my hits when I can get them."

Mays never got off to a better start, even when he won the league title with .345 in 1954 or hit .347 in 1958 when he yielded the crown to Richie Ashburn on the last day of the season.

Dark elaborated on the problems Mays faces which the Giant pilot claims the old time hitting stars did not encounter.

"The gloves may be bigger and the bats lighter today, but unquestionably the pitchers are better and the all-around competition stiffer," said Dark.

"The hitter today faces a rival staff of as many as eight good pitchers. It used to be a club had three or four starters and the relief pitchers were after-thoughts, coming in when a game was blown.

"Now you face a bear-down, good pitcher every inning."

Giardello Signs

CLEVELAND (AP) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello and Juan (Rocky) Rivero signed Wednesday for a 10-round non-title rematch at Cleveland Arena May 22.

The fight will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m., EST, as was the April 17 fight here in which Giardello won a split decision over the Argentine champ.

Rosendale Nordic Ski Club Invited to 17th of May Parade

The Rosendale Nordic Ski Club has been invited by the Norwegian-American 17th of May Committee of Greater New York Inc. to participate in the 17th of May Parade, sponsored on that date by the Committee, in New York City.

William P. Curran, president and chairman of the Rosendale club, said the invitation was formally presented by L. Kaare Johanse, general chairman of the 17th of May Committee, and has been referred to the local club's board of directors.

Curran said that the invitation was a unique honor for the Rosendale Ski Club, which has been recognized for its interest in jumping and cross country. The Nordic combined competition originated in Scandinavia. He said that approximately 250,000 participatants and spectators will be involved in the 17th of May Parade.

The local club president said an informal invitation was presented to the Rosendale club when he appeared as guest speaker recently at the Telemark Ski Club post-season ski party at the Norkegian Engineer's Club in Bayridge, Brooklyn. The latter club originally brought skiing to Rosendale and established the Telemark Jump in that village, he said. He said many of the original ski jumper and founders of the Telemark Ski Club in 1936 at Rosendale, were present.

The May 17 parade commemorates the 150th aniversary of Norway's Independence Day.

But his own San Francisco Giant manager, Al Dark, said today odds are insurmountable for Mays to become the loop's first .400 batter since Bill Terry's .401 in 1930.

The reason?

"Willie is just too brilliant an all-around player," said Dark. "When you play 162 games like Mays does—fielding like he does running like he does, and hustling like he does—it is humanly impossible for him to hit .400.

"A .400 hitter has to concentrate on hitting. Willie concentrates on everything.

"Furthermore, if Willie only hit .250, he'd still be the greatest ball player around."

Willie Cautious

Mays, who will be 33 on May 6, refused to discuss the possibility of joining the legendary circle of .400 hitters.

"I'm not saying anything, but not anything," Mays commented after his triple and two singles in five trips helped squelch the Chicago Cubs 4-0 Wednesday.

"Let other people talk," said Mays. "Me, I just play baseball and take my hits when I can get them."

Mays never got off to a better start, even when he won the league title with .345 in 1954 or hit .347 in 1958 when he yielded the crown to Richie Ashburn on the last day of the season.

Dark elaborated on the problems Mays faces which the Giant pilot claims the old time hitting stars did not encounter.

"The gloves may be bigger and the bats lighter today, but unquestionably the pitchers are better and the all-around competition stiffer," said Dark.

"The hitter today faces a rival staff of as many as eight good pitchers. It used to be a club had three or four starters and the relief pitchers were after-thoughts, coming in when a game was blown.

"Now you face a bear-down, good pitcher every inning."

Giardello Signs

CLEVELAND (AP) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello and Juan (Rocky) Rivero signed Wednesday for a 10-round non-title rematch at Cleveland Arena May 22.

The fight will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m., EST, as was the April 17 fight here in which Giardello won a split decision over the Argentine champ.

Leave $497,555 Unclaimed at Tracks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State has received a windfall of $497,554 because race track patrons failed to cash winning pari-mutuel tickets last year, the State Tax Department says.

Under law, when the tickets were not redeemed by April 1, the tracks turned over the money to the department, and it went into the state's general fund.

The department said the total from this source was $65,954 more than from the 1962 racing season.

DENVER (AP) — Alternately smiling and bitter, dethroned heavyweight champion Sonny Liston told a sports fan meeting Wednesday he felt he was entitled to a return fight with champion Cassius Clay.

"If not," he added, "then any other challenger should fight me before he is allowed to fight Clay."

Leave $497,555 Unclaimed at Tracks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State has received a windfall of $497,554 because race track patrons failed to cash winning pari-mutuel tickets last year, the State Tax Department says.

Under law, when the tickets were not redeemed by April 1, the tracks turned over the money to the department, and it went into the state's general fund.

Liston was the main attraction at the monthly meeting of the Bronco Quarterback Club, made up of supporters of Denver's American Football League team.

Husband Critical

Queens Woman Is Knifed to Death By Negro Teeners

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman was knifed to death and her husband critically stabbed by one of eight teen-agers who invaded the couple's second-hand clothing store in Harlem Wednesday.

The eight, described as Negroes ranging in age from about 14 to 19, disappeared into the late afternoon crowd on busy West 125th Street just off Fifth Avenue.

Magit Sugar, 45, of Woodside, Queens, was killed by a single thrust in the heart with a double-edged dirk.

Her husband, Frank, 50, wrested the knife from the killer, but not before he had been stabbed six times.

Police said the stabbings were apparently "senseless." If robbery was the youths' motive, they failed. There was no cash register in the store and Sugar's wallet was not taken.

Sugar was taken to Harlem Hospital in critical condition, but was reported to have improved after blood transfusions.

The Sugars, who came here as refugees from the 1956 Hungarian revolt, had operated the second-hand clothing store since 1960.

Bar Group Will Mark Law Day Ceremony Friday

The Ulster County Bar Association will sponsor a program Friday at 10 a. m. in observance of the seventh annual "Law Day—USA" at the opening of court before Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman who will preside at the May special term.

In remarks made Wednesday in the Court of Appeals in observance of "Law Day—USA," Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said "observance of the law is essential to public order and the strengthening of the individual rights of our citizens," a quote from President Johnson's Law Day proclamation.

That quote summarized the objective of the annual observance of "Law Day—USA."

In his talk before the Court of Appeals Wednesday, Attorney General Lefkowitz asked irresponsible civil rights demonstrators "to respect the rights of others in their quest for equal rights." He said the overwhelming majority of our people are "inculcated with and abide by a strong sense of moral integrity, but to fringe element, relatively small, in number, but most significant and dangerous in scope of its operation, respect for the rights of others is a meaningless, hollow concept."

Hijackers Seize Silver Bullion, $100,000 Value

CHICAGO (AP) — Three robbers hijacked a truck loaded with nearly three tons of silver bullion valued at $75,000 to $100,000 Wednesday.

The truck driver, Salvatore Lavalle, 50, who was held captive by the robbers for nearly two hours, was within a few blocks from his destination when he was met by the hijackers on the South Side.

The 75 bars of silver were to have been delivered to a plant of the National Lead Co. The silver had been shipped from the U.S. Metals Refining Co., Carteret, N.J.

Police later recovered the empty truck.

Railroad Advice

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the U. S. Post Office, Main Building, 496 Broadway, Room 3, Kingston, Wednesday, May 13, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. He will assist the railroad worker, his wife, widow or survivors in retirement and survivor problems and answer any inquiries which they may have in connection with Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

matter of fact

Contour farming is the practice of following the contour of the land in plowing to reduce soil losses from erosion and to conserve water in the small furrows. In contour farming, the plowman keeps to a level line at right angles to the direction of the slope, the usual result being that furrows that are level curve around the slope.

Enlistments Wide Open, Navy Says

The U. S. Navy Recruiting Station has announced that enlistments in the Navy during May will be wide open for all men between the ages of 17 and 31, and for all women between 18 and 26. This policy is in direct contrast to the coming summer months when only high school graduates will be desired.

For all young adults, with an eye to the future, an enlistment now means assured travel, good pay, and the best advancement opportunities. In addition to this, all high school graduates who qualify, are guaranteed a trade school in the field of their choice. This much-wanted guarantee is given to the enlistee, in writing, prior to his being sworn into the Navy. The trade schools include training in the fields of electronics, aviation, nuclear submarines, mechanical and clerical. The non-graduate has an opportunity to compete for these trade schools by virture of weekly test scores while in recruit training, or he can select 'on the job training' in any one of 64 different ratings.

The local recruiting office is located in the Central Post Office, Kingston, and is open five days a week from 9 a. m. to 5 p.

Husband Critical

Queens Woman Is Knifed to Death By Negro Teeners

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman was knifed to death and her husband critically stabbed by one of eight teen-agers who invaded the couple's second-hand clothing store in Harlem Wednesday.

The eight, described as Negroes ranging in age from about 14 to 19, disappeared into the late afternoon crowd on busy West 125th Street just off Fifth Avenue.

Magit Sugar, 45, of Woodside, Queens, was killed by a single thrust in the heart with a double-edged dirk.

Her husband, Frank, 50, wrested the knife from the killer, but not before he had been stabbed six times.

Police said the stabbings were apparently "senseless." If robbery was the youths' motive, they failed. There was no cash register in the store and Sugar's wallet was not taken.

Sugar was taken to Harlem Hospital in critical condition, but was reported to have improved after blood transfusions.

The Sugars, who came here as refugees from the 1956 Hungarian revolt, had operated the second-hand clothing store since 1960.

Bar Group Will Mark Law Day Ceremony Friday

The Ulster County Bar Association will sponsor a program Friday at 10 a. m. in observance of the seventh annual "Law Day—USA" at the opening of court before Supreme Court Justice William Deckelman who will preside at the May special term.

In remarks made Wednesday in the Court of Appeals in observance of "Law Day—USA," Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said "observance of the law is essential to public order and the strengthening of the individual rights of our citizens," a quote from President Johnson's Law Day proclamation.

That quote summarized the objective of the annual observance of "Law Day—USA."

In his talk before the Court of Appeals Wednesday, Attorney General Lefkowitz asked irresponsible civil rights demonstrators "to respect the rights of others in their quest for equal rights." He said the overwhelming majority of our people are "inculcated with and abide by a strong sense of moral integrity, but to fringe element, relatively small, in number, but most significant and dangerous in scope of its operation, respect for the rights of others is a meaningless, hollow concept."

Hijackers Seize Silver Bullion, $100,000 Value

CHICAGO (AP) — Three robbers hijacked a truck loaded with nearly three tons of silver bullion valued at $75,000 to $100,000 Wednesday.

The truck driver, Salvatore Lavalle, 50, who was held captive by the robbers for nearly two hours, was within a few blocks from his destination when he was met by the hijackers on the South Side.

The 75 bars of silver were to have been delivered to a plant of the National Lead Co. The silver had been shipped from the U.S. Metals Refining Co., Carteret, N.J.

Police later recovered the empty truck.

Contour farming is the practice of following the contour of the land in plowing to reduce soil losses from erosion and to conserve water in the small furrows. In contour farming, the plowman keeps to a level line at right angles to the direction of the slope, the usual result being that furrows that are level curve around the slope.

Enlistments Wide Open, Navy Says

The U. S. Navy Recruiting Station has announced that enlistments in the Navy during May will be wide open for all men between the ages of 17 and 31, and for all women between 18 and 26. This policy is in direct contrast to the coming summer months when only high school graduates will be desired.

For all young adults, with an eye to the future, an enlistment now means assured travel, good pay, and the best advancement opportunities. In addition to this, all high school graduates who qualify, are guaranteed a trade school in the field of their choice. This much-wanted guarantee is given to the enlistee, in writing, prior to his being sworn into the Navy. The trade schools include training in the fields of electronics, aviation, nuclear submarines, mechanical and clerical. The non-graduate has an opportunity to compete for

Mississippi Move to Kill GOP in State Bogging Down

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The move to stamp out Republicanism in Mississippi with new election laws looked like another lost cause today.

The 22 bills backed by Gov. Paul Johnson, which passed the State Senate, ran into surprisingly strong opposition in the House.

After two straight setbacks in House votes, Rep. Roy Strickland, floor manager of the package of bills, showed little hope for future victory.

"I think Wirt Yerger, State Rep. M. L. McAllister and Sen. Dirksen have won their battle," he said.

Yerger is state GOP chairman. McAllister is the only Republican in the Mississippi Legislature. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., is the party's Senate minority leader.

The revolt against Johnson's election bills was signaled Tuesday when a key bill was sent back to committee for further study.

Rep. Abie Miller of Greene, told the House the move against the GOP "could upset bringing in industry to Mississippi."

Strickland's second defeat came Wednesday.

Key bills in the package would force the state's budding GOP to measure up to major party standards in organization and operation.

At present, the GOP couldn't make the grade.

The party made its first serious bid for the governorship in the last election, astounding Democrats by drawing almost a third of the votes. The proposed election laws were the reaction.

The key bill referred back to committee would set these standards:

Half the precincts in a county must stage precinct conventions before a county convention is valid.

Thirty of the state's 82 counties must stage valid county conventions before a state convention is valid.

The other key bill would force all candidates to run in primary elections, even if unopposed, and primary winners would have to draw at least 10 per cent of all votes cast in both party primaries to be eligible for the general election ballot.

AF Reports None

ing that there is anything sinister about these unexplained sightings. It just says, in effect, they can't be corrolated with any known objects or phenomena.

It was stressed that a "great majority of the unidentified cases occurred during the first five years of the project," before analysis techniques were sharpened.

Last year there were 382 UFO reports and only 15 are still listed as unidentified.

These included "two objects described as an ear of corn and a banana (which) performed a series of maneuvers near Vandalia, Ohio" last Sept. 15.

Others involved "an unusual observation of four pink wheels" moving west over New Jersey, an object that exploded into a ball of fire near St. Galen, Switzerland, a recurring series of flashes near Warrenville, Ill., and the like.

Air Force sleuths decided that one woman who turned in a UFO report actually had seen spots before her eyes.

State Ponders

the winter to notify the mayors of such communities that the law was to be enforced strictly.

The spokesman said the department decided to crack down because there has been a "proliferation" of cross-street banners in recent years—signs advertising community celebrations, picnics, clambakes and the like.

The theory behind the law is that such signs and lights tend to distract motorists. In some instances, traffic signals and directional signs might be obscured.

There is the possibility too, the spokesman said, that decorations might fall onto the road and damage vehicles or cause accidents.

Cyprus, Cease

man said the plan was constructive.

There was no immmediate Turkish Cypriot comment.

Thant called on Cyprus' Greek Cypriot president, Archbishop Makarios, and its Turkish Cypriot vice president, Fazil Kuchuk, to renounce without delay any further blooodshed in the four-month-old communal strife.

Urges General Amnesty

In his "program of reasonable objectives," Thant urged a general amnesty, disarming of all irregulars, removing fortified positions to assure freedom of movement, establishing joint U.N.-Greek-Turkish patrols, resuming public services to isolated Turkish villages, recalling Turkish civil servants to their jobs with the Greek-dominated government, reintegration of Greek and Turkish Cypriot members of the police force, and return of Turkish Cypriot refugees to their homes in selected areas under U.N. protection.

To aid in negotiations to achieve these goals, Thant said he would appoint a top-level political officer to work with the U.N. commander, Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani. No name was announced.

Set Major Conditions

Thant's proposals received cautious approval from the Cypriot and Turkish ambassadors to the U.N., but they also set major conditions.

Ambassador Zenon Rossides, head of the Cyprus delegation which represents the Greek Cypriot community, said the Turkish Cypriots would have to surrender their constitutional veto over major legislation. This is the issue that started the fighting.

Turkish Ambassador Erhan Eralp said Thant's proposals could only be achieved through compulsion by a strengthened U.N. force.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market "correction" continued mildly today in active trading.

While the list continued generally lower, some stocks advanced against the general trend. An attempt at a rally got under way in mid-morning but it faded.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, after dropping a couple of points in early trading, wiped out the loss and moved to a net gain of about a point. Curtis Publishing rode along with it, advancing more than a point.

General Motors added a full point.

The auto group was mixed, however, and the trend was lower for steeels, oils, rails, chemicals, tobacccos and drugs.

Coppers were mostly higher.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .63 at 812.18.

Among the coppers, Kennecott advanced more than a point.

Bethlehem Steel was a fractional loser. U.S. Steel eased.

Losses of about a point were shown by Zenith, Polaroid and Air Reduction.

Rails and airlines were narrowly mixed. Jersey Standard was a fractional loser in a slightly lower oil group. Losses in the cigarette stocks were fractional.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Resistance Met in Buffalo Probe to Find Subversion

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—House investigators met stubborn resistance from witnesses today as they sought to learn whether any of them had knowledge of possible Communist subversion in the Buffalo area.

One witness after the other at the second session of a House Un-American Activities subcommittee hearing invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked, among other things, whether they were or had been members of the Communist Party.

Even questions pertaining to the educational background of the witnesses went unanswered.

Three Ejected

Before the session convened, three persons were ejected from the hearing room and several others were refused admittance.

One woman screamed "Storm Troopers" as she was hustled to an elevator to be taken to the ground floor.

The committee listened to statements of protests from the witnesses before they were sworn in.

Picket Court House

Pickets paraded outside the U.S. Court House, where the hearing was under way, as they did Wednesday.

The leadoff witness Wednesday was Andrew Berecz, a former undercover agent for the FBI. He detailed what he said was Communist infiltration into the Buffalo area.

But those who subsequently were called to testify repeatedly invoked the Fifth Amendment and other provisions of the U.S. Constitution.

A melee broke out in late afternoon after a witness, Edward A. Wolkenstein of nearby Eggertsville, had launched a tirade against the committee.

"What is this, Hitler's Germany?" he demanded.

Wife Starts Yelling

Wolkenstein's wife, Rachel, seated with her children at the back of the room, began yelling. A federal marshal moved into the crowd and tried to grab her. She began fighting and got some assistance from nearby spectators.

Wolkenstein's occupation was not learned.

Paul Sporn, who teaches English at the University of Buffalo, touched off a controversy when he tried to tape-record his testimony earlier in the afternoon.

Sporn, identified as a member of the Communist party by Berecz, contested the legality of the hearing and sought to make a recording.

Bars Tape Recorder

But Texas Democrat Joe R. Pool, acting chairman of the commmittee, denied a request by Sporn's attorney to use a tape recorder.

When called as a witness last night, Tobias Schwartz went to a table, picked up a microphone and screamed:

"Is this table bugged?"

He charged that the hearing was illegal, then was dragged out of the room by four marshals. He slammed the microphone on the table on his trip out.

His wife, Helen, who has been called earlier last night as a witness, jumped up and shouted repeatedly, "Leave him alone."

A woman yelled "free-for-all" and she and a photographer began a brief shoving battle.

Schwartz was identified by a committee spokesman as a researcher who has been employed here by Roswell Park Memorial Institute, a leading cancer-research center.

Other witnesses Wednesday night were Seymour Rudner and Walter Zvelako, who said he was a folk singer and a laborer. Rudner's occupation was not learned.

Berecz said members of the Communist party in this area were ordered to infiltrate youth groups, the peace movement, racially oriented organizations and schools. He specified the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and Women March for Peace as targets of the party.

In all, 16 persons have been subpoenaed to testify at the hearing. The committee had said it expected the session to run two days but would extend it if necessary.

Po'keepsie Man Drowns Today in Sturgeon Pool

Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone, who investigated with Deputies Robert Doran and Jack Seaholm, identified the victim as Amos Howard of 3 High Street.

Mayone said Howard and William Savage, 36, of 114 Main Street, Poughkeepsie were fishing shortly after 11 a. m. Howard hooked a fish and the line caught in the undergrowth. He went to the water's edge and fell. His heavy boots and clothes pulled him down.

Howard yelled for help. Savage groped his way down the ledge and passed his fishing pole to the drowning man. Howard grabbed the pole but the line snapped. Savage ran some distance and found a long stick which he held out for Howard, but the latter went below surface.

Savage ran to the nearby highway and hailed Justice of the Peace Allan Dargin of the Town of Esopus, who was passing. Dargie notified the sheriff's office and deputies sped to the scene.

Mayone said Deputy Peter Peterson, who lives nearby got his boat and the deputies threw out grappling hooks and recovered the body on the first throw. Howard was pronounced dead. Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser went to the scene and the body was removed to Ulster County morgue.

Teachers Seeking

to be covered," Mannix said," and it probably will take a month, because every classroom teacher in the Kingston consolidated district will be given an opportunity to sign the petition or refuse, before the petitions are filed with the board of education."

No Particular Support

The concluding paragraph of the petition reads: "—let it be clearly understood that signatures on this petition can in no way be construed as representing support for any particular organization. A signature below merely represents a member of the faculty who wishes to have the opportunity to democratically express his or her view on the matter of representation."

The KTF president stated there are between 410 and 421 members of the teaching staff, and he anticipates that 60 to 70 per cent of that number will sign the petitions.

Meanwhile, Randolph Siegel, president of the KTA, announced a meeting of this group will be held Monday at 3:45 p. m. in the Music Room at George Washington School to discuss professional negotiations.

Siegel said H. David Van Dyke, of the New York State Teachers Association, Albany, will be guest speaker.

Boat Is Stolen

Police were notified of the theft of an eight-foot fiberglass boat from the Kingston Power Boat Association property and of an attempted car theft. The boat theft was reported at 4:35 p. m. Three other small boats were reported missing from the same place recently. A report at 7:50 p. m. said a boy had attempted to take a car from Parsons lot, Albany Avenue, but it stalled and the boy ran from it.

Boy Finds Mortar Shell

Police were notified at 6:45 p. m. Wednesday that Todge Bittner, 12, of 68 Brewster Street, had found a mortar shell on Peter Street. It was taken to the state armory by officers Kenneth Radel and Joseph Kivlan. Its calibre was listed as unknown.

'Averaging Down' Is Wise When Strong Stock Drops

Q) "In Sept. 1961, I bought 10 shares of Dow Chemical at 84⅜. The stock then dropped considerably and I decided to buy 10 more at 65. Do you think I should sell my shares bought at a higher price to register a loss for tax purposes, or should I hold both lots?" I. R.

A) If I may say so, you showed very good sense by averaging down in Dow when it became depressed in price.

Although I am strongly opposed to averaging down in a weak stock—like Brunswick, where the fundementals have deteriorated badly—I am heartily in favor of the practive when a strong stock like Dow becomes relatively depressed.

Your average share price is now very close to the market, and your loss on the first purchase for income tax purposes is relatively unimportant. Dow's earnings have been rising, should do so again in 1964, and the dividend has been increased.

I advise you to hold your 20 shares.

Q— "I am retired on a pension and social security. I have about $8,000 in series E bonds coming due in 1965-1968. Since I have held them for seventeen years or more with no income, I feel it is not worthwhile keeping them now. What would you advise me to do with the money when they mature?" M. P.

A) I think your wisest course wold be to exchange your present E bonds immediately for Series H bonds, which pay current income.

You have a substantial accaccrual of interest, now that your E bonds are in their first period of extension. Series H bonds of $1,000 denomination pay $8 by government check after 6 months of holding, $14.50 on the second check, then $16—after a year and one-half, $20 each 6 months to maturity.

And your accumulated interest on E bonds exchanged for Series H does not become taxable until your H bonds are redeemed or mature.

To Seek Vermont Post

WEST RUPERT, Vt. (AP)—Former Rep. William H. Meyer has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Meyer, 49, will be opposed by State Sen. Frederick J. Fayette, who is regarded as the favorite. Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., is expected to seek a second six-year term.

Meyer made political history in 1958 when he became Vermont's first Democratic representative in more than a century. He was defeated by the present congressman, Robert T. Stafford, after serving his first term and hasn't won an election since.

Living Costs Inch Up During March Tenth of Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs inched up one-tenth of 1 per cent in March as prices rose for virtually all consumer items except food, the government reported today.

Lower food prices were offset by higher costs of housing, medical care, transportation and other basic items, bringing the consumer price index to 107.7.

This means that it now costs $10.77 to buy goods that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

A Labor Department spokesman said costs could be expected to go up again for April, but he added "there is not the slightest indication of any serious inflation."

Mississippi Move to Kill GOP in State Bogging Down

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The move to stamp out Republicanism in Mississippi with new election laws looked like another lost cause today.

The 22 bills backed by Gov. Paul Johnson, which passed the State Senate, ran into surprisingly strong opposition in the House.

After two straight setbacks in House votes, Rep. Roy Strickland, floor manager of the package of bills, showed little hope for future victory.

"I think Wirt Yerger, State Rep. M. L. McAllister and Sen. Dirksen have won their battle," he said.

Yerger is state GOP chairman. McAllister is the only Republican in the Mississippi Legislature. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., is the party's Senate minority leader.

The revolt against Johnson's election bills was signaled Tuesday when a key bill was sent back to committee for further study.

Rep. Abie Miller of Greene, told the House the move against the GOP "could upset bringing in industry to Mississippi."

Strickland's second defeat came Wednesday.

Key bills in the package would force the state's budding GOP to measure up to major party standards in organization and operation.

At present, the GOP couldn't make the grade.

The party made its first serious bid for the governorship in the last election, astounding Democrats by drawing almost a third of the votes. The proposed election laws were the reaction.

The key bill referred back to committee would set these standards:

Half the precincts in a county must stage precinct conventions before a county convention is valid.

Thirty of the state's 82 counties must stage valid county conventions before a state convention is valid.

The other key bill would force all candidates to run in primary elections, even if unopposed, and primary winners would have to draw at least 10 per cent of all votes cast in both party primaries to be eligible for the general election ballot.

AF Reports None

ing that there is anything sinister about these unexplained sightings. It just says, in effect, they can't be corrolated with any known objects or phenomena.

It was stressed that a "great majority of the unidentified cases occurred during the first five years of the project," before analysis techniques were sharpened.

Last year there were 382 UFO reports and only 15 are still listed as unidentified.

These included "two objects described as an ear of corn and a banana (which) performed a series of maneuvers near Vandalia, Ohio" last Sept. 15.

Others involved "an unusual observation of four pink wheels" moving west over New Jersey, an object that exploded into a ball of fire near St. Galen, Switzerland, a recurring series of flashes near Warrenville, Ill., and the like.

Air Force sleuths decided that one woman who turned in a UFO report actually had seen spots before her eyes.

State Ponders

the winter to notify the mayors of such communities that the law was to be enforced strictly.

The spokesman said the department decided to crack down because there has been a "proliferation" of cross-street banners in recent years—signs advertising community celebrations, picnics, clambakes and the like.

The theory behind the law is that such signs and lights tend to distract motorists. In some instances, traffic signals and directional signs might be obscured.

There is the possibility too, the spokesman said, that decorations might fall onto the road and damage vehicles or cause accidents.

Cyprus, Cease

man said the plan was constructive.

There was no immmediate Turkish Cypriot comment.

Thant called on Cyprus' Greek Cypriot president, Archbishop Makarios, and its Turkish Cypriot vice president, Fazil Kuchuk, to renounce without delay any further blooodshed in the four-month-old communal strife.

Urges General Amnesty

In his "program of reasonable objectives," Thant urged a general amnesty, disarming of all irregulars, removing fortified positions to assure freedom of movement, establishing joint U.N.-Greek-Turkish patrols, resuming public services to isolated Turkish villages, recalling Turkish civil servants to their jobs with the Greek-dominated government, reintegration of Greek and Turkish Cypriot members of the police force, and return of Turkish Cypriot refugees to their homes in selected areas under U.N. protection.

To aid in negotiations to achieve these goals, Thant said he would appoint a top-level political officer to work with the U.N. commander, Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani. No name was announced.

Set Major Conditions

Thant's proposals received cautious approval from the Cypriot and Turkish ambassadors to the U.N., but they also set major conditions.

Ambassador Zenon Rossides, head of the Cyprus delegation which represents the Greek Cypriot community, said the Turkish Cypriots would have to surrender their constitutional veto over major legislation. This is the issue that started the fighting.

Turkish Ambassador Erhan Eralp said Thant's proposals could only be achieved through compulsion by a strengthened U.N. force.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market "correction" continued mildly today in active trading.

While the list continued generally lower, some stocks advanced against the general trend. An attempt at a rally got under way in mid-morning but it faded.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, after dropping a couple of points in early trading, wiped out the loss and moved to a net gain of about a point. Curtis Publishing rode along with it, advancing more than a point.

General Motors added a full point.

The auto group was mixed, however, and the trend was lower for steeels, oils, rails, chemicals, tobacccos and drugs.

Coppers were mostly higher.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .5 at 301.8 with industrials off .4, rails off .8 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .63 at 812.18.

Among the coppers, Kennecott advanced more than a point.

Bethlehem Steel was a fractional loser. U.S. Steel eased.

Losses of about a point were shown by Zenith, Polaroid and Air Reduction.

Rails and airlines were narrowly mixed. Jersey Standard was a fractional loser in a slightly lower oil group. Losses in the cigarette stocks were fractional.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds moved slightly higher.

He charged that the hearing was illegal, then was dragged out of the room by four marshals. He slammed the microphone on the table on his trip out.

His wife, Helen, who has been called earlier last night as a witness, jumped up and shouted repeatedly, "Leave him alone."

Po'keepsie Man Drowns Today in Sturgeon Pool

Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone, who investigated with Deputies Robert Doran and Jack Seaholm, identified the victim as Amos Howard of 3 High Street.

Mayone said Howard and William Savage, 36, of 114 Main Street, Poughkeepsie were fishing shortly after 11 a. m. Howard hooked a fish and the line caught in the undergrowth. He went to the water's edge and fell. His heavy boots and clothes pulled him down.

Howard yelled for help. Savage groped his way down the ledge and passed his fishing pole to the drowning man. Howard grabbed the pole but the line snapped. Savage ran some distance and found a long stick which he held out for Howard, but the latter went below surface.

Savage ran to the nearby highway and hailed Justice of the Peace Allan Dargin of the Town of Esopus, who was passing. Dargie notified the sheriff's office and deputies sped to the scene.

Mayone said Deputy Peter Peterson, who lives nearby got his boat and the deputies threw out grappling hooks and recovered the body on the first throw. Howard was pronounced dead. Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser went to the scene and the body was removed to Ulster County morgue.

Teachers Seeking

to be covered," Mannix said," and it probably will take a month, because every classroom teacher in the Kingston consolidated district will be given an opportunity to sign the petition or refuse, before the petitions are filed with the board of education."

No Particular Support

The concluding paragraph of the petition reads: "—let it be clearly understood that signatures on this petition can in no way be construed as representing support for any particular organization. A signature below merely represents a member of the faculty who wishes to have the opportunity to democratically express his or her view on the matter of representation."

The KTF president stated there are between 410 and 421 members of the teaching staff, and he anticipates that 60 to 70 per cent of that number will sign the petitions.

Meanwhile, Randolph Siegel, president of the KTA, announced a meeting of this group will be held Monday at 3:45 p. m. in the Music Room at George Washington School to discuss professional negotiations.

'Averaging Down' Is Wise When Strong Stock Drops

Q) "In Sept. 1961, I bought 10 shares of Dow Chemical at 84⅜. The stock then dropped considerably and I decided to buy 10 more at 65. Do you think I should sell my shares bought at a higher price to register a loss for tax purposes, or should I hold both lots?" I. R.

A) If I may say so, you showed very good sense by averaging down in Dow when it became depressed in price.

Although I am strongly opposed to averaging down in a weak stock—like Brunswick, where the fundementals have deteriorated badly—I am heartily in favor of the practive when a strong stock like Dow becomes relatively depressed.

Your average share price is now very close to the market, and your loss on the first purchase for income tax purposes is relatively unimportant. Dow's earnings have been rising, should do so again in 1964, and the dividend has been increased.

I advise you to hold your 20 shares.

Q— "I am retired on a pension and social security. I have about $8,000 in series E bonds coming due in 1965-1968. Since I have held them for seventeen years or more with no income, I feel it is not worthwhile keeping them now. What would you advise me to do with the money when they mature?" M. P.

A) I think your wisest course wold be to exchange your present E bonds immediately for Series H bonds, which pay current income.

You have a substantial accrual of interest, now that your E bonds are in their first period of extension. Series H bonds of $1,000 denomination pay $8 by government check after 6 months of holding, $14.50 on the second check, then $16—after a year and one-half, $20 each 6 months to maturity.

And your accumulated interest on E bonds exchanged for Series H does not become taxable until your H bonds are redeemed or mature.

To Seek Vermont Post

WEST RUPERT, Vt. (AP)—Former Rep. William H. Meyer has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Meyer, 49, will be opposed by State Sen. Frederick J. Fayette, who is regarded as the favorite. Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., is expected to seek a second six-year term.

Meyer made political history in 1958 when he became Vermont's first Democratic representative in more than a century. He was defeated by the present congressman, Robert T. Stafford, after serving his first term and hasn't won an election since.

Living Costs Inch Up During March Tenth of Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs inched up one-tenth of 1 per cent in March as prices rose for virtually all consumer items except food, the government reported today.

Lower food prices were offset by higher costs of housing, medical care, transportation and other basic items, bringing the consumer price index to 107.7.

This means that it now costs $10.77 to buy goods that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

A Labor Department spokesman said costs could be expected to go up again for April, but he added "there is not the slightest indication of any serious inflation."

Twenty one of the board's 27-man membership attended the meeting, representing the largest turnout to date. Clarence Raichle, chairman of the industrial committee of the Uster County Board of Supervisors, and Norman Luedtke, associate engineer representing the highway superintendent's office, also attended the meeting, along with John S. Deffigos and Cornelius Rotteveel of the New York State Department of Commerce's planning division, who offered help and guidance from a professional point of view.

Other board business included reports from the public information and traffic and jet port committee.

Goals and objections of the recently-organized County Planning Board will be the discussion subject at the next regular meeting on May 22.

Wilson Protests State Highway Yule Lights Ban

A strong note of protest has been sent by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), Ulster, to J. Burch McMorran, Superintendent of Public Works, State of New York, relative to the Department's ruling that all Christmas lighting and decorations be prohibited on State Highways and State Arterial routes.

Assemblyman Wilson pointed to the fact that main streets in practically every city, town, village and hamlet is a State Highway, or state arterial route and that this order would in effect prohibit traditional Christmas displays in our state.

The assemblyman states in his letter, "I vigorously protest such a strict interpretation of the traffic law. I feel certain that an equitable and fair solution can be obtained by far less drastic action."

The issuance of permits by the State Department of Public Works to applying municipalities, setting forth certain standards, would assure any needed protection to the motoring public, Wilson maintains.

Absentees Could Decide Candidate In Senate Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Absentee ballots probably will decide who wins the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator — Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the state Supreme Court or Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal revenue.

Only 3,454 votes separate the candidates, according to unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary election.

With 9,242 precincts in, Misss Blatt had 454,020 votes to 450,566 for Musmannno.

An Associated Press poll of the 67 counties showed about 9,000 absentee ballots sent from 46 who responded. Political estimates run as high as 20,000 such ballots to be accounted for. The counting is scheduled to start May 8.

More than 6,700 are out in counties where Musmanno led, based on AP's and other figures. He led in nine counties, Miss Blatt in 58.

Will Crown Luci As Apple Queen

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Luci Baines Johnson is crowned queen of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival today and asked to offer her prayers for a bountiful harvest.

The 16-year-old daughter of the President, surrounded by a court of princesses, maids of honor and a military escort was to take the oath before an expected crowd of thousands. Festival officials were praying, too, for a break in the rainy weather.

The coronation ceremony on the stately columned steps of Handley High School is the highlight of the three-day festival in this apple growing capital.

With State Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. as her escort, Luci will kneel on a pillow to receive the crown from Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force Chief of staff. Her oath includes a promise to govern her domain with prudence and justice.

As "Shenandoah XXXVII, fair queen of apple blossom," Luci will reign over parades, square dances, folk singing and receptions for the next two days.

Festival officials picked a nearby orchard with the best blossoms to provide a background for Luci's coronation day picture.

Wallace, Sheen Head Witnesses On Prayers Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York head the witness list today at House hearings on the use of prayers in the public schools.

They'll appear before a House Judiciary Committee that has been accused of stalling in the hearings by Rep. Frank J. Becker, R-N.Y., chief sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit school prayers. Bishop Sheen is auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York.

Becker, who pressed Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., for hearings for nearly two years, said Wednesday he will insist the hearings end May 14.

That was the date originally announced by Celler for ending the hearings, but the slow progress of the sessions so far has thrown the schedule badly out of kilter.

Wilson Protests State Highway Yule Lights Ban

A strong note of protest has been sent by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R), Ulster, to J. Burch McMorran, Superintendent of Public Works, State of New York, relative to the Department's ruling that all Christmas lighting and decorations be prohibited on State Highways and State Arterial routes.

Assemblyman Wilson pointed to the fact that main streets in practically every city, town, village and hamlet is a State Highway, or state arterial route and that this order would in effect prohibit traditional Christmas displays in our state.

The assemblyman states in his letter, "I vigorously protest such a strict interpretation of the traffic law. I feel certain that an equitable and fair solution can be obtained by far less drastic action."

The issuance of permits by the State Department of Public Works to applying municipalities, setting forth certain standards, would assure any needed protection to the motoring public, Wilson maintains.

Absentees Could Decide Candidate In Senate Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Absentee ballots probably will decide who wins the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator — Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the state Supreme Court or Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal revenue.

Only 3,454 votes separate the candidates, according to unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary election.

With 9,242 precincts in, Misss Blatt had 454,020 votes to 450,566 for Musmannno.

An Associated Press poll of the 67 counties showed about 9,000 absentee ballots sent from 46 who responded. Political estimates run as high as 20,000 such ballots to be accounted for. The counting is scheduled to start May 8.

More than 6,700 are out in counties where Musmanno led, based on AP's and other figures. He led in nine counties, Miss Blatt in 58.

Will Crown Luci As Apple Queen

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Luci Baines Johnson is crowned queen of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival today and asked to offer her prayers for a bountiful harvest.

The 16-year-old daughter of the President, surrounded by a court of princesses, maids of honor and a military escort was to take the oath before an expected crowd of thousands. Festival officials were praying, too, for a break in the rainy weather.

The coronation ceremony on the stately columned steps of Handley High School is the highlight of the three-day festival in this apple growing capital.

With State Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. as her escort, Luci will kneel on a pillow to receive the crown from Gen. Curtis LeMay, Air Force Chief of staff. Her oath includes a promise to govern her domain with prudence and justice.

As "Shenandoah XXXVII, fair queen of apple blossom," Luci will reign over parades, square dances, folk singing and receptions for the next two days.

Festival officials picked a nearby orchard with the best blossoms to provide a background for Luci's coronation day picture.

The sentence was the highest ever imposed by a German war crimes court. Blache was commander of a ghetto at Tarnow, in eastern Poland.

He was found guilty on 41 counts of murder and on more than 4,000 counts of complicity in murder.

Wallace, Sheen Head Witnesses On Prayers Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York head the witness list today at House hearings on the use of prayers in the public schools.

They'll appear before a House Judiciary Committee that has been accused of stalling in the hearings by Rep. Frank J. Becker, R-N.Y., chief sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit school prayers. Bishop Sheen is auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York.

Becker, who pressed Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., for hearings for nearly two years, said Wednesday he will insist the hearings end May 14.

That was the date originally announced by Celler for ending the hearings, but the slow progress of the sessions so far has thrown the schedule badly out of kilter.

Only Method

In the United States, during colonial times, the only available method of dissolving a marriage was by act of a legislative assembly, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.
